Progress of Militia Bureau Is Outlined

BY MAJ. GEN. CREED C. HAMMOND,
Chief of the Militia Bureau.

UNDER a series of legislative measures for the establishment and maintenance of military forces by the various States, culminating in the creation of the Militia Bureau under the National Defense Act in 1916, and the revision of the National Defense Act in 1920 and 1924, the work of the Federal Government through the Militia Bureau has been definitely set forth. As a result, today we have a National Guard, which through the cooperation of the States with the Militia Bureau, is at its highest standard of efficiency since its inception.

Since 1792, when Congress enacted the first militia law "more effectively to provide for national defense, by establishing a uniform militia throughout the United States," the States have been aided in maintaining forces for the protection of their States, and the Federal Government has endeavored to assist in securing uniformity in the organization and training of militia forces.

Dick Bill Outstanding.

One of the outstanding measures in the series of legislative acts enacted for the development of the militia was the Dick bill, passed by Congress in 1903, which stipulated that the organization, armament, and discipline of the militia should be the same as that of the Regular Army. Provision was made for apportionment of certain Federal funds to the various States, with the condition that requirements prescribed by the War Department were to be met. Thus the foundation of an efficient system of national supervision over the military establishments of the States was made.

Increases in the appropriations for militia affairs, and increased amounts of supplies issued to State troops from the military stores of the Army soon made evident the burden being carried through the Office of The Adjutant General in administration of militia matters. To meet the growing requirements of State forces, a Division of Militia Affairs in the War Department was created by Congress in 1908, to take charge of all matters pertaining to the State military establishments. This Division of Militia Affairs was the forerunner of the present Militia Bureau.

Are Essentially State Troops.

With the creation of the present Militia Bureau under the National Defense Act of 1916, the term "militia" was dropped, and that of "National Guard" substituted for State military forces. The National Guard under the National Defense Act became an organized body of soldiers subject to call of the Federal Government in emergency by Presidential call to service or by Congressional draft, but remained essentially State troops under command of Governors when not in service of the United States.

Under the original National Defense Act, and later amendments, the responsibilities of the Federal and State Governments in maintenance and training of militia forces are definitely stated. These may be summarized as follows:

Federal Government: Responsible for providing at Federal expense the necessary arms, uniforms and equipment required by the National Guard in its training in time of peace, and for providing in addition, such arms, uniforms and equipment as are necessary in the event of an emergency which requires the use of the National Guard by the Federal Government. Necessary funds are also provided for the pay of officers and enlisted men for the periods of training which are required by law, and for the construction, maintenance and repair of field training camps.

Signal Corps Tests Tank Communication

INTER-TANK communication between groups of tanks operating in the field, and between command tanks communicating with a base of operations, will be established on much improved basis if development work now being conducted by the Army Signal Corps is successful. Experimental sets are understood to be in operation in field tests in the maneuvers of the motorized force at Fort Leonard Wood, Md. Future work along this line will be guided by results of these operation tests.

Two Types Considered.

Two types of sets are being considered for tank communications. One, for liaison between command tanks and operating base or headquarters, will be of moderate range, operating from a special communications tank bearing the commander of the tank group. This radio tank, carrying two sets, for liaison and for command, would be less heavily armed than combatant tanks. In action, it would receive protection from nearby tanks of the group.

Each unit tank would be connected with the command tank by a short range set, requiring little space and weight, so that direct communication in action would be secured between all tank units. The problem involved in developing these sets is similar to that in building sets for airplane communications, which has already been successfully met.

Both telegraphic and telephonic radio sets are thought practicable for inter-tank communications. Both are considered advantageous; telegraphic signals are workable over longer distance than telephonic, when transmitting power is the same for each type. It is pointed out that both methods would afford secrecy by use of codes, but that the greater power required in telephonic radio work would somewhat increase chances of detection and location by enemy use of detection and direction finding methods.

Plan Single Tank Hook-up.

Communication within individual tanks, between driver and gunner, is also under study by the Signal Corps. Speaking tubes and electric telephone sets between driver and gunner are possible solutions of the "punch in the back system" which loud tank noises have fostered. Here, again, the problem is similar to airplane communication problems. Tank noise is considered less difficult to overcome than plane noise; less interference with an electrical system is experienced.

Successful development of inter-tank communications for present tanks will point the way for development of sets for the recently designed one-man tank, with resulting possibilities in scouting work in enemy territory.

New Car Functions Well.

Excellent results have been obtained with the new cross-country car adapted to wire-laying work. Using this car, the Signal Corps recently established and put into operation a 40-line telephone exchange within an hour after work was begun. Two pair of wires may be laid simultaneously with this vehicle. The recent wire-laying feat is considered impossible of accomplishment in the same time by previous methods. The new vehicle is conceded to be suitably adapted to Signal Corps usage.

Navy and Marine Corps signal officers are following the development work of the Army Signal Corps with interest. Tank sets developed for the Army would be useful to the Marine Corps. The desirability of having signal apparatus standardized whenever possible has been recognized.

Coolidge Conference On Navy Discussed

BY M. H. MCINTYRE.

THE visit of Admiral C. F. Hughes, Chief of Naval Operations, to the Summer White House at the request of President Coolidge has started a fresh discussion of the possibilities of another three-power conference and the outlook for the cruiser bill at the next session.

Rumors that disquieting reports have been received by this government as to the scope of the Franco-British naval "compromise" agreement have been revived by the summons of the ranking officer of the Navy and in Service circles it is believed that the British proposal is one of the matters the President wants to discuss.

Another explanation is that the Chief Executive wanted the Admiral's advice with respect to that part of his annual message to Congress dealing with the naval situation, particularly with reference to the cruiser bill which failed of passage in the Senate at the last session.

Expected to Urge Cruisers.

Recently the President has made his opinion emphatically clear that he regards the Kellogg pact and the pending cruiser bill as questions entirely divorced and his attitude is known to have hearty administration support. Signing of the peace pact, in his opinion, does not relieve the United States from maintaining an adequate Navy and it is expected that he will strongly advocate the passage of the cruiser bill when Congress opens.

The secrecy which has been maintained as to the text of the British note to this Government, which has never been made public, and the fact that the terms of the agreement between France and England have never been published are largely responsible for the rumors that it contains provisions to which this Government can not subscribe. Forecasts of its terms indicate that 10,000 ton cruisers would be the obstacle to an agreement that the United States could subscribe to and there is a belief that in the event of another attempt to reach a three-power agreement or to extend the terms of the Washington conference, this country would be put in the position of being the one to block it as it seems obvious that the American Navy can never agree to any proposal that will deprive it of this type of fighting craft.

Hughes Often Consulted.

Some of the significance of Admiral Hughes' sudden summons is lost when it is understood that since he has been Chief of Operations, the President has apparently developed a personal liking for him. On several occasions at public functions at the White House, the Admiral has been requested to join the President "upstairs" at times when there were no "burning issues" pending.

The more conservative view is that Mr. Coolidge wanted to go over with the Admiral some current naval questions. The President's determination to maintain an adequate Navy was indicated this week when he said:

"Because we believe in our country it will always be our desire and our duty to defend it. It can not be too often stated that we cherish no sentiment of aggression toward any other people, but the obligation to resist evil, to be prepared to maintain the orderly authority of the rule of law in both our domestic and our foreign relations, is one which can not be avoided. For the Government to disregard the science of national defense would expose it to the contempt of its citizens at home and of the world abroad. It would be an attempt to evade bearing our share of the burdens of civilization. For this reason we maintain, according to our resources, our population, our position and our responsibilities, a moderate Army and Navy based on what we believe to be our requirements for national security."

Navy Pay Board to Present Report Soon

REPORT of the Naval Pay Board headed by Rear Admiral Luke McNamee, is expected to be ready for submission to the Secretary of the Navy about the first of September.

Hearings have been concluded and the individual members have practically completed the drafting of preliminary outlines of principles upon which the final report will be predicated.

Basic Changes Loom.

In the Service there seems an unanimity of opinion that basic changes should be made in the pay system and the report is expected to recommend such changes and submit a draft of legislation to be sought.

There seems little prospect of general pay legislation at the coming session but it is hoped to get the entire matter under congressional consideration and there is every likelihood that specific and immediate action will be sought to remedy some of the most glaring inequalities. For instance it is expected that action can be secured on the "Bachelor Pay" bill with little delay.

Among the interesting papers submitted to the board early in the hearings and just made public was that of Comdr. T. S. Wilkinson who has been in charge of legislative matters for the Bureau of Navigation for a considerable time. As so many individual cases illustrating the working of the existing Pay Act in the service come under his observation, his personal views on the changes needed are of unusual interest. His statement before the board follows:

Cause of Service Complaint.

The principal cause of service complaint may be listed in the following order, as I estimate it, of importance. This order is not necessarily the order of intensity of complaint.

(1) Inadequacy of pay for proper living conditions in all ranks:

There is little actual correspondence on this point but much deep feeling and actual difficulty in making both ends meet. As evidenced by the brief table supplied the Board the average pay throughout all grades at the present time has but 70 per cent of the purchasing power of the 1899 pay schedule and but 62 per cent of the 1908 pay schedule.

(2) Lack of proper relation of pay, to rank and responsibility:

The requirement of length of service before qualifying for the pay periods of each rank results in promotion without advance in pay in frequent instances, as now in the officers reaching the grade of lieutenant commander in the line, who must wait some years in that grade before receiving the pay thereof. Again, promotion in the higher grades involving vastly increased responsibilities results in very slight advance in pay, as from commander to captain and from captain to rear admiral.

Disparity of Pay Cited.

(3) Disparity between pay of officers with and without dependents:

This is the cause of the most vociferous complaints. Aside from the unequal remuneration of officers performing the same duties, and frequently the higher remuneration of juniors than seniors in the same command, it has the particularly objectionable feature of reducing the pay of bachelor officers at sea, their most important and primary duty, below that ashore.

(4) Disparity of Pay between classes of 1916 and above and those of 1917 and below, due to discontinuance of credit for Naval Academy service:

This results in the latter classes arriving at equivalent pay only after four years longer commissioned service than the former. If retired for non-selection as lieutenant commanders this four years differential will result in (1) 10 per cent less multiple of active duty pay in computing retired pay; (2) $350.00 less active pay on which to base the retired pay, representing a total differential in retired pay of $936.25.

(4) Disparity of pay between classes of same or different ranks due to long service of some:

Officers of higher rank are frequently drawing less pay irrespective of dependents allowances than those of lower rank because.

Hoover Stand for National Defense Commended by Editors

ASSURANCE of liberty and national safety through maintenance of adequate National Defense, pledged by Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for President in his speech of acceptance at Palo Alto, Calif., on Aug. 12, has received the commendation of editors throughout the country, in journals of both Republican and Democratic faith. His recognition of the present world situation—"in an armed world there is only one guarantee of freedom—and that is preparedness for defense"—is heartily approved by editorial observers.

THE New York Herald-Tribune (Republican) writes: "There is scant comfort for the soft-minded, the idealist-in-a-hurry or the excited reformer in Mr. Hoover's speech. Every paragraph is as firm in texture as it is clear in outline. Mr. Hoover abominates war and will work for peace; but he is against involving this country in the political exigencies of the Old World and he is for maintaining 'our naval defense and our merchant marine in the strength and efficiency which will yield to us at all times the primary assurance of liberty, that is, of national safety.'"

THE New York Times (Democratic) remarks: "President Coolidge has taken pains to explain to the correspondents that the Kellogg treaty will not dispense with the need of a powerful navy for the United States. Much the same view was expressed by Mr. Hoover in his speech accepting the nomination as President. The implication seems to be that the treaty renouncing war will have no direct relation with the proposals for reducing naval armaments."

THE Hartford Courant (Republican) expresses approval: "We like his international outlook, his understanding of our relations to the rest of the world, his purpose to keep America free from all entangling alliances that would restrict his freedom of action. We like his assertion that in an armed world there is only one certain guarantee of freedom, and that is preparedness for defense."

THE Philadelphia Public Ledger (Republican) says: "On the question of national defense, Mr. Hoover takes the sound position that in an armed world preparedness is the only guarantee of freedom. * * * There can be no doubt that under such a leader the Nation's problems will be bravely met and successfully solved."

THE Chicago Daily Tribune (Republican) points out: "Accordingly, while asserting the need for building up good will by wise and sympathetic handling of internal relations, he points the necessity of preparedness for defense. Fairly interpreted, we take this as a pledge that, as President, Mr. Hoover will not only endeavor practically to cultivate good relations with other nations but that he will not in his zeal for diplomatic accomplishment forget that a primary duty of the American Government—one of the main objects for which it was established as explicitly declared—is to provide for the common defense. If this passage of his acceptance is to be taken as having meaning, it should assure from Mr. Hoover, if elected, insistence upon adequate provision for our naval and military establishments and for their progressive development."

THE Springfield (Mass.) Republican (Republican) states: "The best assurance today the country has that under Mr. Hoover's Presidency a pacific policy of international cooperation and good will would be earnestly pursued is his own character. With a Quaker's inherited abhorrence of war, fortified by personal observation of war's miseries and devastation unsurpassed by that of any other living statesman, Mr. Hoover will never rank as a jingo in American history. Such is the estimate to which he is entitled. Any one is confirmed in this estimate by the scrupulous care with which he commits himself to the policy of military preparedness—not for war, but for 'defense.'"

THE Washington Evening Star (Independent) notes: "Many innovations in politics are presented by the personality and ideals of Herbert Hoover, but none will strike the country as more refreshing than his rugged and uncompromising views on national defense. * * * It is difficult to conceive how there can be any serious difference of partisan opinion with the Hoover attitude on national defense. It may disappoint the peace-at-any-price contingent, which would scrap the American Army, Navy and air force the moment the ink on the Kellogg anti-war treaties is dry. But it will rejoice the hearts of redder-blooded Americans who, like Hoover, crave a warless world, but do not think the millennium will be hastened by an armless world. * * *

THE Washington Post (Republican) comments: "Before the Senate can act upon the Kellogg treaty it will be called upon to approve the bill providing for cruisers and an airplane carrier. Unless legislators have lost their common sense they will vote to maintain the Nation's defenses and to strengthen them whenever necessary. The United States will not advance the cause of peace by a single inch by stripping itself of a navy, on the contrary, it will invite insult, aggression, and war. Americans will fight with their bare hands and bare breasts to defend their own, if their Government denies them weapons. Mr. Hoover has declared himself in favor of adequate naval defense. Governor Smith doubtless will make a similar declaration, as he is a man conversant with human nature. The next President of the United States will, like President Coolidge, oppose a policy of blind pacifism and enfeeblement. The danger lies in an increase of the chorus of well-meaning but deluded peace lovers who will mistake the Kellogg treaty for a revolution in human nature."

THE Baltimore Sun (Democratic) believes: "He is for peace and he recognizes there cannot be isolation in international affairs. But, without saying a word on his own feelings toward the League of Nations, he holds that the people have decided against it. Whether he thinks the people have decided, too, against the World Court, which he once strongly favored, he does not say. The subject is not mentioned. However, Mr. Hoover would cooperate with Geneva, so far as we can, and he gives a tepid indorsement to Mr. Kellogg's treaty to outlaw war, though none of this pursuit of peace is to bar us against armaments."

Greenely Flight Described

By CAPT. I. C. EAKER,
Air Corps, O. A. S. W.

(This is the second article describing the Bremen Relief Expedition, in which Maj. Gen. J. E. Fechet, Chief of the Air Corps, Capt. Eaker, and Lt. Elwood Quesada, A. C., flew to the coast of Labrador. Capt. Eaker, Executive Officer to Assistant Secretary Davison, piloted an Army amphibian plane; Lt. Fairchild, original pilot of the second, was relieved by Lt. Quesada because of illness. The present article tells of the arrival at Greenely Island.)

The morning of May 20, the weather reports from Point Amour, Labrador, indicated good weather. At 2 p. m. the two amphibian planes took off for Greenely Island and Long Point, Labrador. The route followed was along the west coast of Newfoundland to a point opposite Greenely Island, thence across to Greenely Island, thence to Long Point on the Labrador coast.

The coast of Newfoundland is rugged, the cliffs rising almost vertically from the ocean. There are, however, occasional bays which afford possible landing areas for amphibians and seaplanes in the summer time. For the next 25 miles there was scattering drift ice, but landing would still have been possible on the sea, since the water was not rough. From Hawk's Harbor north there was considerable ice in the water, and for the last 75 miles such a large portion of the water was covered with ice that landing would have been difficult, if not impossible.

Prior to departure, Mr. Melchoir put on his two parachutes, after the harness and chutes had been carefully checked. In accordance with the agreement, upon reaching Long Point the landing plane, which I was piloting, flew down low over the field on which the Bremen was located and examined it carefully. The field appeared to be about 700 yards long by about 100 yards wide. It was, however, irregular and rolling. The lower spots had some water on them, indicating that the field was probably quite soft.

I decided against the practicability of landing the amphibian plane on the field, climbed back to an altitude of 2,000 feet and signalled to Mr. Melchoir to prepare to jump. Mr. Melchoir climbed out of the rear cockpit into the front cockpit, thence out onto the wing, facing to the rear. In this position he did not see the signal to jump. I attracted his attention by grasping his left arm, with which he was holding to the front cockpit, and by pointing down.

Immediately after this signal Mr. Melchoir jumped, with the parachute opening instantly. When about 200 feet from the ground he pulled the rip cord of his second parachute. He landed apparently very lightly about 100 yards from the Bremen, and signalled that he had landed safely.

ALLEN HEADS VETERANS.

New York (Special)—Maj. Gen. H. T. Allen, U. S. A., Ret., this week accepted the presidency of the Democratic veterans organization.

Cavalry Team Ready for Perry

Pt. Riley (Special)—With the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, close at hand the Cavalry Rifle and Pistol Team, a truly representative group of the Cavalry arm, is at its peak and is prepared to leave its training area at Fort Riley, Kan., to participate in the National rifle and pistol matches.

Training for candidates for the rifle and pistol teams has been conducted at Fort Riley, the cavalry center of the U. S. Army, during the past two and one-half months. At the beginning of the training period each cavalry regiment sent approximately four representatives to the tryouts, thus enabling the team captain, Capt. A. H. Norton, 8th Cavalry, Fort Bliss, Tex., to have plenty of material on hand, both old and new, from which to develop a winning team. During the month of June the Cavalry Matches were held, this being an annual event during the training of candidates for the cavalry teams. These matches are limited to members of the cavalry arm only and are always an incentive to keep competition and enthusiasm, both from the individual point of view as well as from the regimental side. Winners this year in the Cavalry Matches were: 200-yard off-hand match, Sgt. E. G. Messier, 4th Cav.; 1000-yard championship match (Ft. Bliss Trophy), Sgt. A. H. Nowell, 11th Cav.; regimental team championship, 11th Cav.; individual championship match, Sgt. H. Christensen, 2d Cav.; rifle elimination (Holbrook Trophy), Sgt. J. E. Jensen, 7th Cav.

After the Cavalry Matches the entire squad, consisting of 46 members, fired over the National Match course 10 times, covering a period of two weeks, resulting in the first elimination, reducing the squad to 24 members. After the first elimination a series of individual and team matches took place similar to those conducted at Camp Perry, Ohio, each year. At the conclusion of these matches another elimination took place, reducing the squad to 16 members. These are considered the pick of the cavalry shots and will go to Camp Perry to represent the cavalry in the individual and team matches this year.

In addition to the training daily on the range, opportunity has been given the members of the team to participate daily in plenty of recreation and physical exercises. Fort Riley being located very favorably as to both. All members of the team have taken full advantage of leisure time to indulge in fishing, swimming, riding, hiking over the hills and tennis and golf.

The members of the Cavalry Rifle and Pistol Team who were selected, as a result of over two months of competitive firing, to attend the National Matches are: Capt. A. H. Norton, 8th Cav., Team Captain and Coach; 1st Lts. J. Phillips, 2nd Cav., I. P. Swift, 4th Cav., C. A. Burcham, 8th Cav., C. J. Harrold, 13th Cav.; 2nd Lts. P. Bridgeman, 4th Cav., D. Carleton, 13th Cav.; 1st Sgt. Harris, 1st Cav.; Sgts. J. B. Jensen, 7th Cav., Elliot, 7th Cav., Yesselski, 8th Cav., McDaris, 8th Cav., Reynolds, 2nd Cav., Messier, 4th Cav., Blazjevski, 3rd Cav., J. Adams, 12th Cav.

General Staff Greets Root

MAJ. GEN. C. P. SUMMERALL, Chief of Staff, on Aug. 15, sent the following telegram to Hon. Elihu Root, former Secretary of War, who was largely instrumental in the organization of the War Department General Staff in 1903:

"On this, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the creation of the General Staff Corps, the thoughts and warm wishes of its present members go out to you. They voice the deep and lasting conviction of our entire Army when they say that only through your clear vision, great ability, and patriotic purpose, could this indispensable military agency have been brought into being."

To Exterminate Enemies of Good Health

In the crusade against grim foes that are always attacking teeth and gums, Forhan's for the Gums is arrayed on the side of the dentist.

This dentifrice supplements preventive dentistry, an integral part of the correct practice of oral hygiene.

If used daily, morning and night, Forhan's for the Gums eliminates the spectre of dread Pyorrhea. It helps to firm gums and keep them sound. Also, it aids in safeguarding teeth against acids which cause decay.

Forhan's for the Gums is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., for many years a Pyorrhea specialist. It is designed to thwart this common foe or to check its course. Dentists everywhere recommend Forhan's—at all commissaries—in tubes, 35c and 60c.

Merchant Reserve Created

CREATION of a Merchant Marine Reserve that will supply the Navy with trained officers for wartime expansion became an actuality on Aug. 15 when 1,495 commissions in the grades of lieutenant commanders, lieutenants, senior and junior grade, and ensigns were mailed out to men serving as officers on American merchant ships.

A board of naval officers convened by the Secretary of the Navy early in July, after a personal investigation and an exhaustive study of the individual applicants for reserve commissions, completed its report, recommending nearly 1,500 commissions and settling the question of rank and precedence, which this week was formally approved by Adm. C. F. Hughes as Acting Secretary of the Navy.

Men serving as officers on ships of 3,000 tons and over which have been included in an "approved list," as being acceptable for the Navy's use in a national emergency, will make up the officer personnel of the class of the Reserve. Masters of these vessels and chief engineers of vessels over 10,000 tons are eligible for the rank of lieutenant commander. 272 commissions in this grade have been issued.

398 commissions in the grade of lieutenant (senior grade), 239 in the grade of lieutenant (junior grade) and 586 in the grade of ensign have been issued. A number of officers of merchant vessels who are prominent in the shipping world still retain commissions in the Reserve which they obtained during the World War.

Give Navy Ship Standing

FOLLOWING is the standing of the highest of the following classes of vessels in the United States Navy in Engineering for the Engineering Performance Year 1927-28:

Battleship class: (1) New Mexico, (2) Tennessee, (3) Mississippi, (4) Arizona, (5) West Virginia, (6) Idaho, (7) Maryland, (8) Pennsylvania, (9) Texas, (10) Colorado. Light cruiser class: (1) Omaha, (2) Raleigh, (3) Memphis, (4) Concord, (5) Trenton, (6) Cincinnati, (7) Richmond, (8) Marblehead, (9) Milwaukee. Cruiser class: (1) Rochester, (2) Denver, (3) Galveston, (4) Cleveland.

Following is the standing of vessels of the Minesweeper class for the year to 1 June, 1928:

Minesweeper class: (1) Pelican, (2) Tattuck, (3) Grebe, (4) Sonoma, (5) Brant, (6) Rail, (7) Whippoorwill, (8) Mahopac, (9) Algoma, (10) Umpqua.

FALL POLO MEET HERE.

The annual high and low goal tournament of the War Department Polo Club will start on Oct. 8 at Potomac Park oval, Washington, D. C.

Invitations will be extended to the following teams: Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga.; the Maryland Polo Club, Baltimore; Loudoun-Pauquier Polo Club, Middleburg, Va.; 6th Field Artillery, Ft. Hoyle, Md.; Governors Island, N. Y.; 3d Cavalry, Ft. Myer, Va.; Engineers School, Ft. Humphreys, Va.; and 16th Field Artillery, Ft. Myer, Va. Two War Department teams will probably be entered.

Two trophies will be offered for the high goal and low goal victors. The Chief of Staff's Trophy will go to high goal winner and the Chief of Cavalry's Trophy to low goal victor. Both are bronze plaques with bronze plates bearing names of winners.

The 3d Cavalry has had a good team this season; the last line-up probably the strongest, was as follows: Lt. Bosserman, No. 1; Capt. Mark Devine, No. 2; Lt. Waford, No. 3; Capt. Cunningham, No. 4. Lt. Noble is an alternate.

The 16th Field Artillery team, which has only two veterans left, will enter with line-up considerably changed. Capt. Tate and Sharp are both gone. Lt. Mark McClure, whom the Army Central Polo Committee wanted to send to the Long Island four, Lt. Benson, and Maj. Cortland Parker, a newcomer to the 16th will probably be in the 16th's line-up.

MILEAGE ALLOWANCES STATED.

Provisions which state that mileage allowances to Army officers while traveling on duty shall be paid from the appropriation for the work in connection with which the travel is performed are explained in "AR-4850, issued this week. Other Army regulations issued include the following:

AR 45-49, 1-2, Ordnance Dept., list of blank forms; "AR 39-3009, Quartermaster Corps, clothing money allowance and price list of clothing and equipment; TR 435-234, Coast Artillery Corps, service of the piece, 12-in. gun (Battlingnolles) railway artillery; prepared under the direction of the Chief of C. A.; T/O 692 W, Table of Organization, port battalion, embarkation or disembarkation; T/O 594 W, Headquarters Co., G. H. Q.; T/O 593 W, Special Troops, G. H. Q.; and T/O 331 W, Brigade, Tractor-drawn Artillery, C. A. C. (155-mm. guns). *Supersedes previous pamphlet.

TO OPEN HOUSING BIDS.

Bids for construction work on Army housing contracts to be opened by the Quartermaster Corps include those for Fort Jay, Governors Island, N. Y., for construction of Barracks, to be opened Sept. 14. The date of opening of bids on bachelor officers' quarters at March Field, Calif., has been changed to Sept. 20.

The Journal Salutes

THIS week the Army and Navy Journal salutes:

(1) Rear Adm. E. W. Eberle, U. S. N., Ret., who retired after long and distinguished service.

(2) Col. L. J. Crosby, F. A. Res., commanding the 341st Field Artillery, on his correspondence record.

(3) The Army and Navy Leech Cup contenders headed by Col. W. C. Johnson, U. S. A., and Lt. Comdr. V. K. Godfrey, U. S. N., respectively, who will seek to win the "rubber match" in inter-Service tennis competition.

Reserve Report Pends

ACTION on the conflicting majority and minority reports of the Board of Reserve Officers, recently convened to make recommendations on existing Reserve policies, is pending while Reserve organizations in all sections of the country are discussing the alleged "steamroller" tactics employed on the Board and protesting its expression on Reserve Division legislation.

Repudiation of the intimation that the Board's "majority" report reflected the views of the majority of Reserve officers in this instance is held evidenced in many quarters by the recent actions of the Michigan, New Mexico and New Jersey Departments of the Reserve Officers' Officers' Ass'n which again went on record endorsing the enactment of the Reserve Division bill. With similar action looming in other States, it is expected that the War Department will carefully consider the worth of the Board reports as expressions of representative Reserve opinion and will then take such action as is deemed proper to most efficiently administer the Reserve.

OVERSEAS CAPS AT FT. WOOD.

A gratuitous issue of two overseas caps and one pair of canvas leggings to each member of the motorized force now at Fort Leonard Wood, Md., has been made by the Quartermaster Corps. The overseas service cap has been found suitable to use in the summer maneuvers there, being compact, easily washed, and tight to the head. The Quartermaster Corps is now making a study of suitable types of headgear for motor units. It is felt by those interested that the regulation overseas or a modification of it is most suitable for the purpose.

To Test Light Tank

IN order that it may be given a mechanical test at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, the Commanding General, Third Corps Area, has been directed to turn over to the Ordnance Department one light tank T-1 now with the Experimental Mechanized Force at Fort Leonard Wood. This Ordnance test will necessitate running the tank about 1,500 to 2,000 miles in order to develop any and all weaknesses which may exist in the mechanical construction of the vehicle.

Arrangements will also be made so that the Infantry Tank Board may test this light tank at Fort Leonard Wood at such times as will not interfere with the maneuvers of the Experimental Mechanized Force. The Infantry Tank Board test will determine any modifications which are desired in the mounting of guns, locations of ammunitions, desired port holes, thickness of armor, etc.

NEW CADETS GET FIELD WORK.

West Point (Special).—Arrangements have been completed for the hike and series of encampments to be held by the new fourth class of cadets of the U. S. Military Academy in Westchester and Putnam Counties for five days, starting on Monday, Aug. 20. The expedition will include an overnight stop at the New York National Guard camp in Peekskill, where Maj. Gen. Haskell will provide accommodations.

CHANGE W. D. POLO DATES.

Because of the prevalent hot weather and to give mounts an opportunity to rest between engagements, games of the War Department polo teams will be played at Potomac Park oval on Tuesday and Saturdays only, with the omission of the usual Thursday game.

BALLOON TROPHY TO U. S.

The National Aeronautical Association has been declared the permanent possessor of the James Gordon Bennett balloon trophy by the test committee here Aug. 15, since the Aero Club of Germany has not protested the decision of the 1928 race.

Army Notes

In order to make a test of their use on Army transports to replace the enlisted men's mess kit, the War Department has authorized the procurement of 1,000 experimental compartment mess trays, preferably of cast aluminum, subject to the availability of funds. In accordance with the recommendation of the Inspector General, previous consideration has been given the adoption of such a tray. The Quartermaster General, in cooperation with commercial concerns, has developed a compartment tray which is believed suitable for the purpose intended. The Medical Department for a number of years has used aluminum food containers and trays.

In conformity with a recommendation of the Commandant, The Field Artillery School, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, an experimental truck for the transportation of animals will be converted at the Normoyle Quartermaster Depot, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and sent to the Field Artillery School, Fort Sill for use. The truck will be designed to carry six horses and will be used for experiments in the transportation of horses by motor over long distances. The conversion is necessary inasmuch as reports indicate that there is no commercial vehicle being manufactured which will carry six animals, and that there is no immediate prospect of such a vehicle being put into production. The present Army truck can be converted for experimental use at a cost of about $2,400.

The War Department has approved the construction of a magazine at Fort Robinson, Neb. This magazine has become necessary as a result of the recent arrival at Fort Robinson of the Fourth Field Artillery Battalion (Pack) and will be used for the storage of field artillery ammunition.

Trainees Record Activities

Fort Hoyle, Md. (Special).—The Caisson, an attractive booklet edited by trainees at the C. M. T. C. camp here, and published by the Camp Publicity Bureau, has just been issued. The booklet, a photographic and written record of 1928 summer camp activities at Fort Hoyle, is dedicated to Col. H. G. Bishop, camp commander. A foreword by Col. Bishop, histories of the camp batteries, and records of sport events form part of the record.

The location of a new telephone central building to be constructed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and for which $30,000 has been appropriated, has been approved by the War Department. The building will be constructed between the non-commissioned officers' quarters, opposite the Auditorium and south of the road.

Three locomotives, steam, 15 gondolas, and 10 freight cars for use as passenger cars have been ordered shipped from the Columbus General Depot, Columbus, Ohio, to the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, for use on one of the few remaining narrow-gauge railroads now in active operation in the United States.

Senator D. U. Fletcher, of Florida, in a recent statement discussing 1930 Budget estimates, said of transfers of Army officers: "I think there are other expenses that could be cut down such as duplications, unnecessary transportation expenses involved in constant transfers of the Army, and a host of other things in which costs could be very largely simplified."

Fort Douglas, Utah (Special).—The 38th Infantry, Fort Douglas, Utah, on July 16th, celebrated the 3d Division and its own organization day with a review of the regiment and luncheon at the post served from rolling kitchens. Capt. F. B. Rogers, Inf., of the 38th, outlined the regimental history and told of the 38th's fighting at the Marne. The regimental adjutant and Maj. P. D. Parkinson made short addresses.

The Secretary of War desires, in order to permit soldiers of the Jewish faith to participate in the celebrations of High Holy Days (Rosh Hashonah) beginning at sundown Friday, September 14th, and continuing until sundown Sunday, September 16th, and of the Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur) beginning at sundown Sunday, September 23rd, and continuing until sundown Monday, September 24th, that members of that faith be granted furloughs for such times as necessary to permit them to be at their homes when practicable, or at places where these celebrations are held.

Maj.-Gen. Hanson E. Ely, commanding general of the Second Corps Area, yesterday inspected the C. M. T. C. students at Fort Monmouth. He returned last evening to Governors Island.

Camp Knox, Ky. (Special).—Scores that are believed to be among the highest ever attained in the Services were made here on range firing in the machine gun course recently by Sgts. O. B. Postle and J. J. Kehoe, Co. M, 10th Inf. Sgt. Postle marked up a score of 400 for the complete course, with a possible score of 500. Sgt. Kehoe made 181 on the 1,000-inch range, out of a possible 200. All qualifications reached a high mark this year.

Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. (Special).—Capt. F. E. Barber has been appointed adjutant of the 11th Inf., Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., relieving Capt. D. J. Myers, who goes to Indiana University for R. O. T. C. duty. Capt. Barber will report for duty about Sept. 1. Meanwhile Capt. W. F. Dalton, will be acting adjutant, with Lt. C. L. King as assistant.

Fort MacArthur, Calif. (Special).—Tech. Sgt. Richard Ewinski, Med. Dept., was retired here after twenty-five years' service, part of which following the World War was as Captain with the Sanitary Corps.

First Division Notes

PLATTSBURG'S biggest C. M. T.

Camp has opened. 1,850 men will take training at the Camp on the shores of Lake Champlain, during August. This camp will bring the total now in training in the Corps Area up to 3,000 and makes the total for the summer over 5,000.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt will be one of the Reserve Officers on duty with the 26th Infantry and assist in the training of the students. Col. Roosevelt will be doing duty with the 26th Infantry, the regiment with which he saw so much service in the A. E. F.

The 305th Infantry O. R. mobilized for two weeks' active duty at Governors Island, N. Y., August 12. The regiment is under the command of Lt. Col. Moses King, jr., and is being trained with the 16th Infantry. They are participating in a road march to Camp Dix, N. J., with the 16th and then are engaging in field training with the regiment.

Company "A," 1st Engineers as a part of the Experimental Mechanized Force at Fort Leonard Wood is finding its part in the force interesting and practical. Construction and repair of bridges, road repair, route marking, reconnoitering bridges, route sketching and map reproduction have all been a part of the company's work.

The 1st Brigade, 1st Division, went to Camp Dix, N. J., Aug. 14. The move was made by marching, the 16th leaving on the 14th and the 18th on the 15th. Enroute band concerts, evening parade and formal guard mount were held daily at each camp site. Upon arrival at Dix the brigade went into camp under canvas and then took up their annual target practice. Field maneuvers will follow target practice and conclude the camp.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Coast Guard
Reserve Forces

NATIONAL MATCH WINNER PICKED BY PROPHETS (?)

"WHO will win the National Team Match this year?" This question is causing much discussion in Service circles. The general opinion seems to be that the Infantry and Marines will again fight it out for the classic of the range. Last year the Infantry won in the closest finish in the history of American marksmanship. But there may be a reversal of form, for the Marines have a large number of "first time" men, and the Cavalry and Engineers may forge to the front as they have done several times in the past. The Navy team can never be ignored, for they took first place in 1907 and 1909. There is a "dark horse" to be considered this year in the Coast Guard which has entered the match for the first time.

On record alone, the choice would seem to lie between the Infantry and Marines. The Infantry won in 1906, '08, '10, '15, '20 and '27. The Marines have topped the list for eight years. The Cavalry won in 1913 and the Engineers in 1924. The National Guard led in 1903, '04 and '05.

NAVY AIR BOARD REPORT SUBMITTED TO ADMIRAL LEIGH.

THE report of the Navy Board, headed by Rear Admiral W. H. Standley, created by Secretary Wilbur to make a study of personnel conditions in naval aviation, submitted its report to Rear Adm. R. H. Leigh, Acting Secretary, on Aug. 15.

Publication of the report will probably be delayed until after Assistant Secretary Warner has had an opportunity to study it and in the meantime Admiral Leigh has submitted it to the bureau chiefs interested for their information.

It is understood that the report is entirely lacking in fireworks or sensational features. While the board widened the scope of its investigations to cover almost every phase of naval aviation activities, the recommendations are said to be constructive criticisms and suggestions for remedying some of the conditions that admittedly need rectifying. In some quarters it is described as another step toward making aviation an integral part of the Navy and its recommendations are intended by the board to increase the safety factor in flight operations.

WAR DEPARTMENT DOES NOT FAVOR RESERVE COMPANIES.

FEARS entertained in some quarters that the Organized Reserve might expand by attempting to fill the enlisted ranks of Reserve regiments in competition with the National Guard units now existent have been dispelled by the emphatic pronouncements of Acting Secretary of War Robbins on his recent inspection trips. He informed a number of officers that the War Department was not in favor of building up an enlisted Reserve strength and would not cooperate should any such proposals be advanced. It is understood that Reserve officers themselves are opposed to any form of competition with the National Guard in this field, holding that the three components of the Army of the United States are mutually supplementary and competing organizations.

REAR ADMIRAL EBERLE GOES ON RETIRED LIST.

YESTERDAY, August 17, marked the passing from active service of one of the most picturesque, best loved and most distinguished officers of the American Navy.

After 47 years on active duty that carried him to the seven seas and of distinguished service marked by "high lights" that have fallen to the lot of but few of America's Navy officers, Rear Adm. E. W. Eberle has reached the statutory age of retirement.

Senior officer on the Naval list and head of the General Board, first commander-in-chief of the Battle Fleet, Chief of Naval Operations, superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy during the war, turret officer of the U. S. S. Oregon on her historic cruise around the Horn to play her part in the battle of Santiago, acting chief of staff for Admiral Barker when he commanded the Asiatic Fleet during the Philippine Insurrection, and executive of the U. S. S. Louisiana when the White Squadron made its trip around the world, Admiral Eberle had an enviable career. Today the Navy regrets the passing from active duty of a gallant and able officer, a real seafarer and a friend, beloved of his fellow officers and the men who served under him.

CLAIMS INDIVIDUAL AND COLLECTIVE RECORD.

THE much-challenged claims to the record for successful work in Army correspondence courses have received another challenge, made by the 341st Field Artillery, headquarters, Omaha, Nebr., for the individual and organizational correspondence record. Correspondent there writes:

"In the Army and Navy Journal of July 21 there appears an interesting article on records made by Reserve officers in the Army Correspondence School. This organization, the 341st Field Artillery, has made a collective as well as an individual record which we wish to 'hand up to be shot at.' The regimental commander, Col. Geo. J. Crosby, between the dates of Dec. 1, 1927, and May 21, 1928 (which is less than the school year), completed 16 sub-courses for a credit of 268 hours, and averaged a grade of 92.2 per cent per sub-course. The officers of the regiment (75 assigned and attached) had on Jan. 21, 1928, each completed at least one sub-course during the school year; and at the end of the period had rolled up a score of 326 sub-courses with a total of 6,042 hours. This averages 4.4 sub-courses per officer for the year. Naturally we are very proud of this."

CHIEFS OF BRANCHES AND ASSISTANTS ACTIVE.

MAJ. GEN. EDGAR JADWIN, Chief of Engineers, left Washington Aug. 10 for the West Coast. En route he stopped at the summer White House, Brule, Wis., for a week-end visit. Maj. Gen. Creed C. Hammond, Chief of the Militia Bureau, returned to Washington Aug. 15 from a short trip to summer camps. Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Chief of Cavalry, returned to Washington on Aug. 13 from a trip to the West Coast. Col. Edmund P. Easterbrook, Chief of Chaplains, U. S. A., recently returned from a trip to Fort Adams, William McKinley, Williams, Ethan Allen, and Mann, and to Camp Devens and Plattsburg Barracks.

Maj. H. C. Sigourney, A. C., Res., of the Enlisted Personnel Division, O. C. A. C., will be on active duty from Aug. 19 to Sept. 1. He will spend five days each at Scott and Chanute Fields, and the remainder of the period at Selfridge Field, Mich. Maj. R. E. McQuillin, Cav., O. C. Cav., who was injured several months ago while exercising his mount, is expected to return to active duty about Sept. 1. Col. Orval P. Townsend, formerly on duty with the Bureau of Insular Affairs, has been transferred to Columbus, Ohio; and Maj. J. S. Sullivan, on duty with the Bureau, has been ordered to Fort Benning, Ga. Orders will be issued shortly for an officer to replace Col. Townsend. Lt. Col. John S. Chambers, Q. M. C., Office of the Quartermaster General, will have completed 30 years of service in the Army on Sept. 7. Lt. Col. Chambers has been with the Quartermaster Corps for the past 15 years; his first service was with the Infantry.

SECRETARY DAVIS NOW AT HAWAIIAN EXPOSITION.

THE HON. DWIGHT F. DAVIS, Secretary of War, arrived in Honolulu on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania this week to represent the United States at the Sesquicentennial Exposition of the Discovery of the Hawaiian Islands, which ends tomorrow. Before leaving the United States Secretary Davis visited March Field, Calif., Los Angeles, San Francisco, and San Diego. He is expected to return to the United States by Aug. 28.

PLAN G-2 LODGE PARTIES FOR SEPTEMBER AND HALLOWEEN.

OPEN HOUSE will be held at G-2 Lodge for members at two parties planned for late September and Halloween. It is understood that, under one of the several unwritten by-laws of the organization, gas masks will not be accepted in lieu of the customary Halloween mask.

RUMOR LEGIONNAIRES TO BE IMPRESSED FOR K. P. AT MEET.

KITCHEN POLICE duty and bunk fatigue are rumored to be the order of the day for American Legion members at the annual convention in San Antonio, Tex., this fall, with the receipt of a requisition by the Quartermaster Corps calling for scrubbing brushes, garden rakes, corn brooms, G. I. buckets, and 250 pounds of soap. The Quartermaster Corps is loaning the convention committee these supplies under authorization of Congress. "Feeding the face" will also be in order, aided by 1,000 knives for pie (no forks asked), 1,000 syrup pitchers for flapjack juice, 72 rolling kitchens, 60 field ranges, 6,000 mess stools, and 600 mess tables. Special drills in bunk fatigue are reported planned; 10,000 cots, mattresses, pillows, and pillow cases have been asked, besides 20,000 sheets and blankets. An attendance of 100,000 members is expected at the convention. Army officers and enlisted men at San Antonio are reported to be anticipating watching the former service men at the K. P. regimen, and are said to have offered a prize to the Legionnaire who successfully eats his beans with the all-purpose knives requisitioned.

PROMOTIONS LOOM THROUGH CAPTAINS' RETIREMENTS.

THE retirement of Capt. D. P. Mannix, commanding Destroyer Squadron 9, Scout- ing Fleet, after 30 years service at his own request, which is set for Nov. 5 will result in the promotion on Nov. 6 of the following officers to the next highest grade: Comdr. G. W. Haines, Lt. Comdr. F. R. Barry, Lt. E. M. Senn and the senior Lt. (j. g.), on that date.

This takes care of the last of the lieutenant commanders selected in 1927 for promotion but were not promoted because they did not make their number prior to the convening of the 1928 board but were re-selected by that board.

The above officers may be promoted prior to this date in the event of some unexpected separation from the service.

The retirement of Capt. C. E. Smith for which no effective date has been set under the same conditions as Capt. Mannix, will result in the following named officers being promoted to the next grade: Comdr. J. W. Price, jr., Lt. Comdr. W. N. Richardson, jr., Lt. F. W. Benson and the lieutenant (j. g.) heading the list on the date of Capt. Smith's retirement.

Capt. R. M. Griswold has been selected to relieve Capt. Mannix in command of Destroyer Squadron 9.

NEW ADJUTANT GEN. FOR DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA GUARD.

LIEUT. COL. F. H. SMITH, C. A. C., who has just completed a tour of duty at Constantinople as Military Attache to Turkey, Bulgaria and Roumania, has been ordered to Washington for duty as Adjutant General of the Militia of the District of Columbia, effective October 6th.

He will succeed Lt. Col. L. C. Brinton, Jr., Coast Artillery Corps, who has been ordered to sail from New York, October 9, for duty in the Canal Zone.

INSIGNIA FOR ARMY ORGANIZATIONS STUDIED.

MANY non-color-bearing and non-standard-bearing units of the Regular Army and National Guard are at present working on designs for distinctive organizational insignia. These organizations, Divisional headquarters, headquarters special troops, staff troops, and brigades, are seeking suitable designs for small insignia in the form of badges to make organizations readily distinguishable. The Militia Bureau and the Quartermaster Corps are cooperating with organizations preparing designs.

Navy Notes

A CLASS in submarine training will convene at the Submarine Base, New London, Conn., on January 7, 1929 for a six months' course of instruction.

Applications should be submitted not later than September 20, 1928 and forwarded to the Bureau of Navigation. Such applications shall be accompanied by a report from a medical officer as to applicant's physical qualification for submarine training.

Officers who will have completed two years sea duty on January 7, 1929, are eligible for submarine training. A list of those officers selected will be published as early as practicable in order to permit training of reliefs for those performing important duties.

Captain Daniel P. Mannix, who has been in command of Destroyer Squadron, Scouting Fleet, and Captain Charles E. Smith, who has been in command of the U. S. S. Dobbin, have submitted to the Navy Department applications for retirement after 30 years' service. No action has yet been taken by the department.

With a view to permanency and reducing the paper work in the naval districts to a minimum, a new Naval Reserve service record is being issued to the service by the Bureau of Navigation.

In a letter to all ships and stations, accompanied detailed instructions, the Bureau urges that all information be entered in the service record so that a complete and permanent record be created.

From the first of next October, the new record will be used for all subsequent enlistments in, and assignments to the Naval Reserve and transfers to F-4 and F-5 of the Fleet Naval Reserve. Men serving when the new record goes into effect will be carried on the old record.

A full page description, with photographs, of the U. S. S. Omaha was recently published in the city of that name, by the Omaha Bee-News.

Extending a warm welcome to the Destroyer Squadrons of the Atlantic Scouting Fleet, under command of Rear Admiral Frank H. Clark, which will make their winter base in Charleston, S. C., harbor, the president of the Charleston Board of Trade, Mr. J. Gilmore Smith, has written a letter greeting the Squadrons to Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur.

The Chief of Staff, United States Fleet, Rear Adm. H. B. Butler, has returned from leave and hoisted his flag on the U. S. S. Texas.

Sees Warrant Bill Passage

EXPRESSING the belief that the Navy warrant officers' "pay-parity" bill would be enacted early next session, Chairman Britten of the House Naval Affairs Committee recently wrote the following letter to Col. J. T. Taylor, legislative representative of the American Legion:

In reply to your letter relative to the legislation to restore the pay parity of the Warrant Officers of the Navy, I beg to advise that the legislation to take care of this matter was introduced by me in the House on March 13 and was given the number H. R. 12932.

On March 19 a similar bill was introduced in the Senate (S. 3692) by Senator Shortridge, of California. Hearings were held before the House Naval Affairs Committee on April 18 and 19. We heard Chief Pharmacist Walter H. MacWilliams, Brig. Gen. George Richards, of the Marine Corps, and Rear Admiral Richard H. Leigh, of the Navy Department.

On May 5 the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs favorably reported the Shortridge bill (Report No. 998) and on May 16 it was passed by the Senate. It was amended on the floor to provide that the Director of the Coast and Geodetic Survey shall have the relative rank and the pay allowance of a Rear Admiral, lower half of the Navy.

My bill was favorably reported to the House on May 7 (House Report No. 1560) and placed on the unanimous consent calendar. Had the Senate agreed to the resolution for adjournment at the time it was adopted by the House, all legislation in the House would have been brought up and passed. As it was, when it came up on the unanimous consent calendar it was objected to by Congressman McClintic, of Oklahoma. If the opportunity had presented itself to call it up under suspension of the rules, the Senate bill would have been substituted.

This bill, however, retains its position on the House Calendar and when Congress reconvenes on December 6 the Naval Affairs Committee will have the first Wednesday for the consideration of its bills which are on the calendar and I am sure that it will be passed at that time.

We, of course, regret very much that it failed of passage during the closing days of the session just ended. However, all of the preliminary work has been done on the bill, the hearings have been completed and it has passed the Senate, so that there will be little, if any, difficulty experienced in December.

Navy Medical Corps

THE following medical officers have resigned from the service: Lt. Comdr. R. T. Canon and Lt. G. C. Thomas.

Lt. Wm. H. Harrell (M. C.), U. S. N., has been ordered to duty in attendance upon a course of instruction at the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital.

The following transfers have been recommended by the Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery: Capt. J. B. Mears, to N. T. S. San Diego, Calif.; Comdrs. L. M. Schmidt, to M. B. Parris Island, S. C.; J. T. Miller, to the U. S. S. Utah; G. E. Thomas, to Naval Hospital, N. Y.; H. A. Garrison, to U. S. S. Arizona; G. F. Clark, to Naval Hospital, League Island, Pa.; Lt. Comdr. I. W. Jacobs, to the Guardia Nacional, Nicaragua; C. J. Brown, to the Naval Hospital, N. Y.; H. E. Ragle, to temporary duty in attendance upon a course of instruction at the Leland Stanford University Medical School. Upon completion of this temporary duty, to duty Naval Hospital, Mare Island, Calif.

Capt. E. J. Grow (M. C.), U. S. N., will leave Washington the first of the week for an inspection of Medical Department activities at Newport, R. I., Boston, Mass., and Portsmouth, N. H., in the order named.

Marine Corps Notes

SIX additional Fleet Reserve Companies will be organized during the fiscal year 1929. All officers desirous of forming a Fleet Company in their locality have been requested to make application to the Major General Commandant, Marine Corps Headquarters will announce the allocation of the new units after all applications have been carefully considered.

Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, Commandant of the Marine Corps, visited Quantico August 10. He reviewed the Reserve Companies in training there, presented prizes and inspected the progress of new construction.

The Navy Department on August 13 asked for bids for the construction of seven apartment houses, a disciplinary barracks, one commissary building, a storehouse, one motor transport building, a power and a pump house to be erected at Marine Barracks, Quantico.

NAVY OFFICERS TO COLUMBIA.

Among the students enrolled in the Schools of mines, Engineering and Chemistry of Columbia University during the Summer are 41 Navy officers.

They will receive the degree of Master of Science at the commencement of 1929. After their graduation they will be assigned to different large manufacturing organizations, including the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, to study the construction of steam turbines and the general equipment of electric drive. Some will be sent later to large storage battery manufacturing companies for practical experience in the manufacture of submarine storage batteries.

The senior officer of the group enrolled at Columbia is Lt. Comdr. Ralph Kiehl. Others, all Lieutenants, are: L. G. Bock, D. B. Candler, J. G. Coward, L. E. Divoli, F. A. J. English, V. W. Grady, F. S. Haisell, W. B. Holden, G. P. Hunter, D. H. Johnston, D. B. Justice, A. M. Loker, L. J. Manes, J. B. McGovern, L. McKee, F. J. Mee, W. R. Mills, H. E. Orem, J. E. Stephens, T. M. Stokes, R. B. of long prior enlisted or warrant service of the latter. This condition, however, is not continuing but will gradually disappear as the large group of ex-temporaries and reserve officers reach the limiting thirty years' service (with 50 per cent increase of pay for longevity, which is the maximum allowed) and their Naval Academy contemporaries reach the same stage of service. It will take some twenty-odd years to reach this point, however.

Principles of Pay of Officers.

It appears to me that the principle of the present Pay Act is socialistic rather than military. It was deduced, I believe, from the wrong angle, that is from the angle of living expenses rather than from the view of proper reward for service to the government. In other words the point of view has been that of a living wage rather than that of an earned salary. This is particularly exemplified by the dependents allowances. I believe that the dignity of a commission in the naval forces of the United States and the responsibility and duty incurred by that commission certainly warrants the adoption of the earned salary basis. On this basis the following basic principles can be deduced:

(1) Pay should be based upon service to the government, that is upon the responsibility incurred by the commission. In view of the varying duties of officers the simplest measure of responsibility is rank; and pay therefore should be based upon rank.

(2) Equal pay should be rendered for equal service. The pay of each rank should be the same for all officers in that rank; with certain minor variations within a rank as would come from longer service therein, increase of seniority and hence of responsibility. No officer in any rank should receive higher pay, except for specially hazardous or trying duty, such as aviation or submarine duty, than that of any officer in the next higher rank.

Ask Adequate Pay.

(3) Pay of officers of all ranks should be adequate, that is, commensurate with their duties and responsibilities. This can be judged by the parallel practice of other military services, with regard to the basic cost of living in the countries concerned, and of large industrial corporations in this country. A secondary consideration in this principle should be that the pay should not be so low as to prevent a proper standard of living being maintained by the officer, but this point, the living wage view, should be secondary to the primary consideration of the earned salary.

Prior Legislation.

In 1874, embodied in Section 1556 of the Revised Statutes, a pay schedule was set out for the Navy establishing flat rates of pay for each grade on three bases, at sea, on shore duty, and on leave or waiting orders. Officers of the grade of lieutenant commander and below received increase of pay after four or five years in grade. War-time officers were granted increases of pay every three years after date of appointment on to twelve years.

The Act of March 3, 1899, based the officers of the Navy on the same pay basis as officers of corresponding rank of the Army. Since Army officers were then entitled to foyeys of 10 per cent for each five years of service not to exceed 40 per cent, this Act introduced the total longevity credit into the Navy pay for, I believe, the first time. The Act of May 13, 1907, established a new set of base pay figures for the Navy and reenacted the previous foyeys setting limitations for the total pay of captains, commanders and lieutenant commanders. The previous reduction of pay for shore duty is now done away with and 10 per cent additional pay for sea duty granted. Computation of quarters had been furnished the Army by the Act of June 17, 1878, and consequently became available for the Navy in 1899, when the pay and allowances of Army officers were granted to Naval officers. This did not apply, however, to officers at sea until April 16, 1918, when it was allowed to officers at sea with dependents.

On May 18, 1920, a special bonus or increase of pay varying for different ranks was granted to compensate for the high cost of living and to apply between January 1, 1920, and June 30, 1922.

On June 10, 1922, the present pay Act was passed.

From a survey of the above it would appear that the Act of 1874 was more logical in its basis and more in conformity with the principles above than any of the legislation since. It is, however, objectionable in the reduced rates of pay for shore duty and for leave or waiting orders.

Modifications of the 1922 Act.

A number of minor modifications have been made of the Pay Act such as—allowing officers retired before June 30, 1922, to compute their retired pay on its basis; clarification of the dependents allowances; inclusion of adopted children in legal dependents; granting certain pay rights to retired officers on active duty; but no substantial modification in principle or in application has been enacted.

Several attempts have been made to remove the discrimination against bachelor officers. In 1924 the military committee requested the War Department's attitude on a proposal to grant full allowances to them. The War Department referred the matter to the interested services which all approved it but nevertheless the War Department replied it did not so approve, and nothing was done.

In 1927 the Navy Department proposed that the bachelors' shore rental allowance

Army Officers Retired

THE War Department recently announced the retirements of Col. Sherard Coleman, Q. M. C., Col. William S. Faulkner, Inf., Col. Spencer Cosby, Lt. Col. W. F. Harrell, Maj. M. Hutchinson, M. C., Maj. Charles L. Banks, M. C., Maj. James S. Mooney, A. G. D., 1st Lt. Gerald A. O'Rourke, F. A., and Lt. Donald D. Rule, C. A. C.

Colonel Coleman, who retired on Aug. 12, upon reaching the age of 64, was born in Virginia. He became a 1st lieutenant of Cavalry Feb., 1901, and in Aug. 1920, while holding the rank of lieutenant colonel, he was transferred to the Quartermaster Corps. During the World War he held the rank of colonel.

Colonel Faulkner was born in Virginia Jan. 20, 1868, and first entered the military service as a 2nd lieutenant, 3rd Virginia Infantry in June, 1898. In February, 1901, he became a 1st lieutenant, Infantry, and was promoted lieutenant colonel July, 1920, and colonel July, 1927.

Colonel Cosby was born in Maryland Oct. 2, 1867, and was appointed to the Military Academy from that State. Upon graduation in 1891 he became an additional 2nd lieutenant, Corps of Engineers. He reached the rank of lieutenant colonel February, 1915, and colonel February, 1920. Colonel Cosby is a graduate of the Engineer School of Application. At the time of his retirement he was Federal Division Engineer at Cleveland, Ohio.

Lt. Col. Harrell born in South Carolina, Aug. 8, 1873, became a 2nd lieutenant in Infantry June 1903. During the World War he held the temporary rank of Major and reached the rank of lieutenant colonel September, 1927. Colonel Harrell was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Service Medal, three Silver Star Citations, Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre.

Lt. Col. Hutchinson was born in Wisconsin, July 31, 1864, and first entered the military service in the New York National Guard. He was appointed Major, Q. M. C., July, 1920, and Lt. Col. September, 1924. Colonel Hutchinson holds the following degrees: Ph. B., Columbia University; B. S., L. L. B., and M. L., University of Wisconsin.

Major Banks, first entered the military service as a 1st lieutenant Connecticut National Guard, and first entered the Regular Army and as Major, Medical Corps, July, 1920. Major Banks holds a B. S. degree from Lehigh University and a M. D. degree from Columbia University.

Major Mooney was appointed to the Military Academy from Ohio, where he was born Oct. 4, 1885. He became a 2nd Lt. of Cavalry June, 1912. He reached the rank of Major, July, 1920, and was transferred to the Adjutant General's Department in 1922.

Lieutenant O'Rourke was born in Michigan, July 27, 1895, and was appointed to the Military Academy from Idaho. He became a 2nd lieutenant of Field Artillery in November, 1918, and 1st Lieutenant, September, 1919. Lieutenant O'Rourke is a graduate of the Field Artillery School, Basic Course.

Lieutenant Rule, who was born in New York, Jan. 10, 1901, was appointed to the Military Academy from Washington. Upon graduation June, 1928, he became a lieutenant in the Air Corps. In March, 1925, he was transferred to the Coast Artillery Corps.

(less than that for officers with dependents) be continued at sea, and all services but the Army agreed. The Budget, doubtless, partly for reasons of economy and partly because of the lack of unanimity, turned it down.

Note: The several departments interested in the Pay Act each agreed that they would not propose changes therein without consulting the others. The Inter-Departmental Pay Committee is a liaison board of one representative from each service to accomplish this.

The Budget rules, as I understand them, are (1) that no Department can of itself recommend to Congress any measure suggested by that Department but disapproved by the Budget (all measures involving increased cost must be referred to the Budget) and (2) a Department, in making comment on any external measure referred to it by Congress must if it involves increased cost refer the matter to the Budget and may not, if the Budget disapproves, approve the measure; the Department may, however, supply comments as to the effect of the measure and the Department's own views expressed to the Budget, with note of the Budget's action.

Suggested Schedule.

On the basis of the above principles and assuming that the average rates established by Congress in 1908 were equitable, the following pay schedule is recommended. It represents substantially less than the rates of 1908 corrected for the present purchasing power of the dollar. The total pay just included all allowances. The only real justification for allowances is camouflage of pay and reduction of retired pay. If it is desired to hold the retired pay to its present value of from one-half to five-eighths of active duty pay and allowances, a certain proportion of the pay schedule recommended below can be automatically decreed as "allowances." If one-fifth of the total given is so established the retired pay becomes 60 per cent of the total pay and allowances on active duty.

The first column shows the recommended pay, the second and third the increase, in dollars and in per cent, over the present (Please Turn to Page 1016)

SCHOOL DIRECTORY

THE JOURNAL SOLVES SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Following is an excerpt from a letter written to the Army and Navy Journal indicative of the service afforded by the Journal's School Directory:

"... I have taken advantage of the Journal's School Directory to request information on boarding schools for girls under 10, in or near Washington. We are anxious to find a school, not only of high standing, but where the children are given individual personal attention. Would appreciate highly your assistance. Catalogues, prices, requirements, etc., requested..."

The foregoing is typical of numerous requests received by the Journal from parents confronted with educational problems. The Directory is especially indispensable for Service men and women desirous of placing children in schools of established reputation. Its interests will be directed solely to the inculcation of sound military ideas and to the elevation of the public service in all its departments."—From Vol. 1, No. 1, of The Army and Navy Journal, published August 29, 1863.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1928.

In an armed world there is only one certain guarantee of freedom and that is preparedness for defense.—HERBERT HOOVER.

NO AMERICAN is better fitted by knowledge, based upon personal experience, to discuss America's defense needs than Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for the Presidency. Worker in many foreign fields, especially the Far East prior to the war, the great relief servant of the American people, to whom all the countries of Europe bared their necessities during and after that war, Mr. Hoover has first hand information as to national aims and national ambitions. A hater of war, a passionate believer in peace, the Californian, in his speech of acceptance, solemnly proclaimed as the principle to be observed by his administration:

"There are two cooperating factors in the maintenance of peace—the building of good will by wise and sympathetic handling of international relations, and the adequate preparedness for national defense. We must not only be just; we must be respected."

And how can we be respected? By the possession of a sufficient force, well trained and ready, to uphold our rights and support our policies. As Mr. Hoover well said: "We harbor no military threats." But isolation no longer exists for us; we are, willy nilly, involved in international questions which are of seemingly remote interest. Independent we are and will remain, under the Hoover doctrine, but to assure our own protection, to realize our policies, to be the power for world peace we should be, a large enough Army and a Navy which should be fully up to the 5-5-3 ratio, are requisite.

UNDOUBTEDLY THAT IS what Mr. Hoover has in mind. Consider what he says:

"It is solely to defend ourselves, for the protection of our citizens, that we maintain armament. No clearer evidence of this can exist than the unique fact that we have fewer men in army uniform today than we have in police uniforms, and that we maintain a standing invitation to the world that we are always ready to limit our naval armament in proportion as the other naval nations will do likewise. We earnestly wish that the burdens and dangers of armament upon every home in the world might be lessened. But we must and shall maintain our naval defense and our merchant marine in the strength and efficiency which will yield to us at all times the primary assurance of liberty, that is, of national safety."

Could anything be clearer? A pathetically small Army, inadequate for the vast needs of the Nation. A Navy which shall be maintained upon an equality with that of other sea powers. A merchant marine, which will serve as an auxiliary to the Fleet. It is a program which will strike a responsive chord in the breast of every patriotic American.

NOW THE BRITISH are saying that their recent limitation pact with France is in no sense an agreement but merely a suggestion, which will be abandoned upon the objection of any Power. Well, that is interesting. But the fact remains that while no paper may have been signed, the two nations are in complete accord and are backing the same proposal. If that is not an agreement, what is it?

We imagine the explanation was due to the American reaction to the original announcement. Intended to embarrass the United States at the moment when Mr. Kellogg's outlawry of war negotiations were achieving consummation, it has had the opposite effect. President Coolidge declared he did not anticipate any reduction in the Army and Navy as a result of the anti-war proposal. The Services in his view are entirely defensive and intended solely for the protection of our citizens, and will not be affected by the Kellogg Treaty, which being basically a compact against attack, is, Mr. Coolidge holds, utterly unconcerned with the defense programs of any nation. The State Department expressed a like view, and, undoubtedly with higher approval, the Navy Department took occasion to publish a comparison of the strength of the American and British Fleets. The President, Mr. Hoover, and the Secretaries of the State and Navy Departments are united upon the principle that the defense of America is for America to determine, consonant with Treaties in force. It is a principle we trust Congress will observe in considering the Army and Navy estimates during the coming session.

MR. HOOVER IN his speech of acceptance, announced he would discuss aviation in a later address. That he will observe the Coolidge policies in this respect is self evident. He was deeply interested in the investigation made by the Morrow Board, and was fully in accord with its recommendations. Probably he is aware of the additional material provided for in the estimates now under consideration in the Bureau of the Budget. We are hopeful, however, that the former Secretary of Commerce will not approve the policy of inclusion of the further Air Corps increments in the strength of the Army. The number of troops now available is insufficient, not only for national defense but for internal order and to take care of the equipment which has been installed at numerous strategic points. The Morrow Board properly considered the Air Corps increments as additional to the regular establishment. This view should maintain, and Congress, during the coming session, should make provision to this end.

A PATRIOT, an ardent friend of National Defense, was called by death during the past week. He was Thomas F. Logan, president of Lord and Thomas and Logan, who was the public relations adviser of the United States Shipping Board during the World War. We happen to know of the many occasions on which Mr. Logan talked publicly and privately in behalf of National Defense, and coming as he did in contact with the leading business men of the nation he spread the doctrine of adequate preparation in a manner which had great effect throughout the land. It isn't always the stump speaker who has the largest influence in moulding public sentiment; it is the quiet, thoughtful student, popular with his fellows, who makes for proper national sentiment. Such a man was Mr. Logan, and we who knew him intimately will miss irretrievably this lovable, dignified gentleman, whose thought always was for the honor and glory of his country.

SERVICE HUMOR

EVEN SO!

1st Cadet—"I am a mind reader."
2d Cadet—"Show your stuff."
1st C.—"Think of any number and I'll guess whether it is odd or even."
2d C.—"All right, then, let's see. I just called my girl up on the 'phone. What number was it?"
1st C.—"Did you get her?"
2d C.—"Yes."
1st C.—"Right away?"
2d C.—"Yes."
1st C.—"That's odd."

DRY HUMOR

A young hostess was doing her best to entertain an officer who had been a friend of her father's. After exhausting a number of subjects, she finally decided to offer her visitor refreshment.

"Will you have a cup of tea?" she asked cordially.

"I don't drink tea," he replied.

"How about some coffee?"

"I don't drink coffee."

"A whiskey and soda?"

"I don't drink soda."

AVAST THERE!

Waiter—"Yesterday, one of our customers choked on some macaroni."

Ensign—"The fool! Why didn't he breathe through the holes?"

BRUNETTE JOKE

Suspicious wife—"What does this blonde hair on your coat mean?"

Captain—"Carelessness, my dear, carelessness."

THE LAND OF THE FEE.

"The woman pays and pays and pays," mourned Major Whiffletree as he paid his August alimony, "but she never had to buy her freedom on the installment plan."

CANNING FACTORY.

The young Army girl turned to a polite Reserve lieutenant who was showing her through his father's factory and said:

"What is that big thing over there?"

"That is a locomotive boiler."

"Why do they boil the locomotive?"

"To wake the locomotive tender."

So now she knows.

ERIN GO BRAGH.

Traveling Salesman—How did you like that cigar I gave you? For 500 coupons of that brand you get a banjo.

Irish Private—If I was to smoke 500 of them I'd want a harp.

O. K. FOR MRS. MOTH.

"A moth lives an awful life."

"Why?"

"He spends the winter in a bathing suit and the summer in a fur coat."

RED-HEADS BITE THE DUST.

Lecturer (in loud voice): "I venture to assert there isn't a boy in this audience who has ever done anything to prevent destruction of our vast forests."

Boy-in-the-Audience (timidly): "I've shot woodpeckers."

HORTICULTURE-ITCH.

Farmer—Hey! Drop that poison ivy! Cityite—Tut, tut. Calm yourself, my good man, this wasn't picked on your land.

Come On, You Cut-Ups

Just another day wasted away—unless saved by a good joke. Start the day right—have a laugh with your morning bath of lather. Don't shave your sense of humor—pass it on to the Services. Address Humor Editor.

WHEN YOU ARE TRANSFERRED

ASK the Journal about living conditions, etc., at the Post to which you have been directed to proceed. Questions will be answered as soon as possible either in this column or by letter. Address Post Editor.

S. C.: Fort McKinley, Me., is located on Great Diamond Island, near Portland, Me. Government boats are met by trains and taxis. There is no use for a private car on the island; cars must be kept on the mainland, where there is small opportunity for use, particularly during the Summer training season. There is a post school for the lower grades; Portland grammar and high schools are used. The post commissary has a small meat shop and grocery department. Portland stores are excellent, with moderate prices. Post quarters are insufficient for usual permanent personnel. One or more officers are often on commutation status on the mainland. Post officers' quarters include six double and three single sets, and five bachelor sets. The satisfactory hotels of Portland are beyond the means of the average officer for more than short stops. Portland apartments vary in desirability and in class from $50 to $150 per month. Main roads from Portland are all paved and open during the winter. Winter sports, and golf, tennis, hiking, fishing and swimming in the Summer are popular. There is no post course, but a 9-hole civilian course is on the island, with small fees. The post has two tennis courts. The mainland country club is inaccessible. A post theater has pictures three times a week. Weather is fair, with some foggy days, but few rainstorms. The ocean tempers the climate. Wool clothing is worn year-round. Fort McKinley is a Coast Artillery post garrisoned by two Infantry Battalions. The Catholic regimental chaplain holds services every other week. There are no churches.

W. A. C.—The Act allowing a large number of Army, Navy and Marine Corps officers to accept foreign decorations is being put into effect, the War Department making the distribution of the Army officers' decorations. The decorations are being mailed out or sent by messenger to the recipients.

IN THE JOURNAL 60 YEARS AGO

A LETTER from the Secretary of the Navy to the House on the trial of the U. S. S. Wampanoag renewed public arguments on the merit of its design.

Maj. Gen. Meade assumed command of the Dept. of the South, comprising the States of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama.

1st Lt. Edmund Rice, 40th U. S. Inf., invented a new bayonet shaped as a steel trowel, nine inches long by four inches wide, to be used by soldiers in "digging-in." Springfield Arsenal manufactured 200 for testing.

The steam-powered, bark-rigged gunboat Kenosha, 740 tons burden, with one 11-in. pivot gun, six 8-in. guns, one 60-pounder, two 24-pounders, and two 12-pounders, was launched at New York Navy Yard.

The Wateree and the Fredonia were at Arica, Peru.

Lt. (j. g.) H. W. Pierce, (C. C.) U. S. N., outlining the situation of the Class of 1922 made the following statement:

Just prior to my appearance before the Board I had an opportunity to read the statements of Lt. Comdrs. Denebrink and Wallin, which had been submitted previously. In these statements, the pay act of 1922 has been so thoroughly analyzed and the discriminations and inequalities so well pointed out that it is unnecessary for us to go into great detail. We indorse these statements in their demand for a complete revision of the present pay law. We wish to emphasize, however, this aspect of the situation, namely, that aside from the discrimination and inequality the present pay is wholly inadequate, particularly in the lower ranks. We maintain that it is the duty of the government to so regulate an officer's pay that he may be relieved of financial worry, in order that his energy may be devoted to bettering himself in his professional duties, that he may maintain a position in the community commensurate with his rank and profession. The present inadequacy of pay has resulted in a lower standard of living, a loss in morale, and a lack of incentive to junior officers to remain in the service.

I wish to state that I represent the class of 1922 only in so far as I have been in a position during the past two years to be in communication with nearly every member of my class, and further, that my own case is typical of over sixty per cent of the service members of the class; namely, married, a family to support and no other source of income than my Navy pay. Bachelor members forming some forty per cent of the class suffer from similar inadequacy of pay, and further, the injustice of lower pay for the same service and duty performed. We, as officers, are required to exhibit certain military qualities, to present a neat appearance, and to maintain a standard of living commensurate with our position and training, that we may reflect creditably upon the service to which we belong. During the past four years I and a number of my classmates have been stationed in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and we have learned by experience the hardships entailed by being underpaid. We have been forced to wonder where the next dollar was coming from to pay our living expenses.

In several cases an officer's wife has had to obtain outside employment in order to assist his income. We have been obliged to live in crowded quarters in undesirable neighborhoods, still paying rentals much in excess of the allowance. We have been denied the opportunity for a reasonable degree of amusement and recreation. It has been necessary for us to exercise the most rigid economy, even while living under the conditions outlined above. During this period the majority of the class of 1922 has been on sea duty, with difficulties as great or greater, due to the maintenance of their families ashore while bearing the additional expense of a separate mess aboard ship. There has been no exaggeration in this outline of the results of inadequate pay. In this connection the following approximate figures are of interest. The class of 1922 graduated 538 members. From the current Register, there are now 277 commissioned in the Navy and 23 in the Marine Corps. There have been approximately 15 deaths and retirements. The remainder, approximately 225, are: resignations from the service, either as a result of unusual circumstances existing at the time of our graduation, or because civil life offered more than the service, even at the expense of a new start in life. The economic loss to the service demands an increase which will offer young officers an incentive to remain and progress in their profession.

I have recently made my number and taken examination for the rank of lieutenant, senior grade. Under the present bill, with payment on the basis of service, not rank, this promotion carries no increase in pay. A junior lieutenant with six years' service receives the same pay as a lieutenant with less than seven years' service, amounting in the case of an officer with dependents to but $3,358.00 per year. The class of 1922 entered the academy in 1918 and have actually completed, therefore, ten years' naval service. By the act of 1913 the four years' naval academy service does not count for pay purposes, a fact known and accepted at the time of our entrance. Under the pay act in effect at that time the difference was small. The pay bill of 1922 places a tremendous premium on this four-year service, for its application would place me in the pay period of a lieutenant with ten years' service and pay amounting to $4,158.00 per year, a difference of $800.00. This difference increases as time goes on—I have lost heavily by its action in the past three years and stand to lose more heavily in the future.

Further, the avowed purpose of the pay act of 1922 was to increase substantially the pay of officers to compensate for a depreciated dollar. The tables below, prepared for 1908 allowances at Philadelphia, indicate the nature of this "increase."

Pay of Lieutenant with 6 Years' Service.		1908	1922	Diff.
Shore duty, (w.)	$2,850	$2,899	$49.00
Shore duty (wd.)	2,850	3,358	508.00
Sea duty (w.)	2,904	2,899	5.00
Sea duty (wd.)	2,904	3,358	454.00

Pay of Lieutenant with 10 Years' Service.		1908	1922	Diff.
Shore duty (w.)	$3,090	$3,690	$609.00
Shore duty (wd.)	3,090	4,158	1,068.00
Sea duty (w.)	3,168	3,699	531.00
Sea duty (wd.)	3,168	4,158	990.00

W—Without dependents.
WD—With dependents.

It appears that the benefits of the 1922 bill are reaped by those counting Naval Academy or enlisted service. The figures above are not corrected for the present comparative value of the dollar. Taking this at the accepted value of 60 cents, compared with the 1923 dollar, the largest increase is far below proper compensation.

In conclusion, we earnestly request complete revision of the pay schedule, embodying the following points: (a) Pay determined by rank, with some increase for years of service in rank. (b) That no officer shall receive higher pay than any officer in the rank next above. (c) Unusual length of service in any one rank cannot be corrected by a pay schedule; it is the subject for promotion legislation. (d) Equal pay for service rendered, i. e., no distinction between officers with and without dependents. (e) The elimination of allowances and the simplification of pay schedules. In the event that allowances be retained as a part of pay, they should be so adjusted as to reflect actual cost. (f) Adequate pay for all ranks. In this connection we endorse the schedule appearing in a Service publication in so far as it pertains to ensigns, lieutenants, junior grade, and lieutenants. We have no experience which would qualify us to make recommendations for the higher ranks. As an incentive to junior officers the entire schedule appears to be adequate and fair. The schedule mentioned above proposes the following:

Ens., $2,500; Lt. (j. g.), $4,000; Lt., $5,000; Lt., after 4 years, $5,500; Lt. Comdr., $6,000; Lt. Comdr., after four years, $6,500; Comdr., $7,000; Comdr., after four years, $7,500; Capt., $8,000; Capt., after four years, $8,500; Rear Adm. (Lower half), $10,000; Rear Adm., (Upper half), $12,000; Vice Adm., $13,500; Adm., $15,000.

I wish to express my appreciation to the Board for the opportunity to appear and express my views, and to thank the individual members for their sympathetic and interested attention.

The standard by which other vacuum tubes are rated

Look for this mark on every Radiotron

Nation-wide broadcasting, for audiences of millions, has been made possible by the development of RCA Radiotrons for all uses in both transmitting and receiving instruments. They are the acknowledged standard in vacuum tube design in the radio industry.

Radiotrons are the heart of the receiving set. To maintain fine reception the vacuum tubes in your set should be replaced with new Radiotrons at least once a year. Do not use new tubes with old. Best results are obtained by changing all tubes at one time.

Organized Reserve

RESERVE APPOINTMENTS OPEN.

ALL previous letters from The Adjutant General announcing suspension of appointments in sections of the Officers' Reserve Corps have been rescinded and the following instructions are substituted therefor:

Examinations may be held and recommendations may be submitted for appointment in grades for which applicants are qualified and eligible under par. 8 b. A. R. 140-5, to fill vacancies under the procurement objective of the War Department where such vacancies cannot be filled by the promotion of eligible and qualified reserve officers.

With the exception of applicants eligible and qualified for appointment under A. R. 140-10, A. R. 145-10, or A. R. 350-2200, appointments in all grades in the sections indicated below are suspended and no applications for appointment in those sections will be forwarded to the War Department: Adjutant General's Department Reserve, including appointments for postal duty; Finance Department Reserve, except for residents of the Hawaiian, Philippine and Panama Canal Departments; J. A. G. Department Reserve; M. I. Reserve; Military Police Corps Reserve; Quartermaster Corps Reserve; and Signal Corps Reserve.

G. S. S. STUDENTS SOUGHT.

EACH Corps Area Commander and Chief of Branch has been called upon by the War Department to submit not later than November 15, the names of two Reserve officers of field grade and two as alternates, whom he recommends to take the two months' course for Reserve officers at the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., commencing March 18, 1929. The War Department will make the selection of those who will attend from the names submitted, the number depending on the funds available.

Recommendations for this course will be limited to those who have completed the Command and General Staff Correspondence Course or who have had equivalent training, and who are not more than 47 years of age. The latter limit may be waived by the War Department in case of Reserve officers who are especially qualified to take the course, provided they are physically able to perform its mounted requirements, but in no case will the waiver extend to any officer who is more than 50 years of age.

AERONAUTICS :: RADIO

Aeronautical Notes

THE sixth tri-motored transport plane to fly to Nicaragua from Washington will take off Aug. 20 from Naval Air Station Anacostia, piloted by Lt. C. F. Schilt, U. S. M. C. Master. Technical Sgt. A. Paschal will be relief pilot; Gunnery Sgt. Adams, radio operator; and Sgt. Long, mechanic.

Maj. von dem Hagen, German foreign liaison officer, is now on leave in the U. S., visiting Air Corps posts and activities. Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, Chief of Air Corps, has tendered him use of Army planes wherever possible. He will be in Washington about Sept. 1.

Capt. Euvelle D. Howard, U. S. M. C., pilot, and Gunnery Sergeant James F. Hill, U. S. M. C., observer in OL-8 airplane, crashed at Somoto, Nicaragua, on August 12. Both escaped uninjured, though the plane was a complete wreck.

Creation of a new committee to study problems of air navigation was announced by the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics on Aug. 14.

Col. Charles Lindbergh of Trans-Atlantic flight fame, is one of the members of the general committee which has the following distinguished membership: Dr. Joseph L. Ames, chairman; Dr. L. J. Briggs, Paul Henderson, Dr. J. C. Hunsaker, Capt. E. S. Land, Dr. G. W. Lewis, Prof. C. F. Marvin and C. M. Young.

Three subcommittees, with Dr. Hunsaker, Dr. Briggs and Prof. Marvin, to study the problems of communication, instruments and meteorology respectively, will be organized within the next week and meetings will be held in this city.

The resignation of Maj. T. G. Lanphier, recently in command of Selfridge Field, Mich., has been accepted by the President to take effect Aug. 25. Maj. Lanphier recently announced that he had tendered his resignation in order to engage in commercial aviation in the same corporation with which Col. Lindbergh is connected. He is from Iowa, and was graduated from the Military Academy in June, 1914. His early service was in the Infantry, in which he served as a major in the National Army during the World War. In July, 1920, Maj. Lanphier was transferred to the Air Corps and has since participated in many notable flights and contributed materially to the development of the service.

The 77th Division in the camp included the 307th and 308th Infantry Reserve Officers, the 16th Infantry Regulars, the 304th, 305th and 701st Field Artillery, Division aviation with pursuit plane. Their problems consisted of an attack pursuit and counter-attack in which the red or enemy forces suffered defeat. Each problem was conducted with precision.

The Division Dinner was a very enjoyable occasion and took place Friday evening, July 20.

At the end of the first week of active duty training a hurry call came to the Headquarters of the 77th Division for some of its officers to proceed to Mt. Holly to act as honor guard for Capt. Carranza, Mexican flying ace. The Carranza honor guard included the following officers: Lt. Col. C. F. Claassen, Maj. L. J. de Milhan, Capt. W. E. Lippold, L. H. Frohman, J. H. Donaldson, H. E. Chas and H. S. Stratton, Lts. H. D. Valentine, J. A. Eyster, H. J. Hermann, G. R. Kent, A. G. White, J. B. Cahney and R. L. Hill.

Are you going on leave? Are you changing station to a summer training camp? Send us your new address so you will not miss any issues. Address Circulation Department, Army and Navy Journal, 1800 E Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Navy Bans Stunt Flying

A RECENT announcement of the Navy Department regarding exhibition of Navy planes at airport dedication ceremonies, restricting such use of Navy planes and prohibiting stunt flying at ceremonies, reads in part as follows:

It is contrary to the policy of the Navy Department to furnish aircraft in connection with the aircraft dedication ceremonies when admission is charged if such admissions accrue to the benefit of any individual or corporation. There is no objection, however, to admission charges if they are used exclusively in defraying the legitimate expenses of the ceremony or exercises. Responsible officers will make inquiry to satisfy themselves on this point.

The Navy Department will decline to furnish aircraft on national holidays such as Memorial and Independence Days or Armistice Day. Naval aircraft will not participate in any dedication ceremonies unless assurance is received from the committee in charge that no aerial wing-walking, airplane trapeze performances, transfers from plane to plane, or from plane to other vehicle, or vice versa, or delayed release or double parachute jumps will be engaged in at such dedication by any person or persons whatsoever at or near the field being dedicated; and should such assurance be violated, the senior naval officer present will withdraw naval aircraft from participation in the ceremonies.

P. I. RADIO NET FORMED.

As the result of investigation into Philippine communications by a special commission appointed recently by Governor General Henry L. Stimson, the Radio Corporation of the Philippines will operate a number of stations on the island of Luzon for a trial period. Stations will be established at Cebu, Iloilo, Cagayan de Misamis, Tacloban, Laoag, Aparri, Davao, and Zamboanga and as rapidly as established will be called upon by the Bureau of Posts to transmit messages under the new franchise.

11TH INFANTRY ACTIVE.

ALTHOUGH the largest citizens military training camp in the country, the one conducted at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., the enrollment of which exceeded 1,550 candidates, has been closed since July 20, the intensive activity of the 11th Infantry, the regiment training the citizen-soldiers, has not lagged and officers and enlisted men are busy with several varieties of military tasks.

Officers of the 84th Division, Reserve, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., are now on a two weeks' active duty status at Fort Harrison, being associated with the 11th Infantry. Members of the 331st and 332nd Reserve Infantry regiments from Ohio completed two weeks' training Aug. 4. To the efficiency and cooperation of Col. Horace P. Hobbs, commanding the 11th Infantry, is ascribed the unusual military success of the Ohio Reserve in the two weeks' active duty training, according to a letter received at Fort Harrison from one of the Regular Army instructors with the regiments.

Col. Hobbs has instituted a policy with the three machine gun companies of the regiment which permits them to conduct target practice without interruption. All members of the companies will be returned to their organizations from special detail and the attention and time of men and officers will be concentrated on target practice.

A provisional battalion, made up of 12 officers and 400 enlisted men, under the command of Maj. F. McCabe, will report to Camp Perry, Ohio, about Aug. 22 for duty in connection with the National Rifle Matches. The 11th Infantry will enter a team to compete for the Rumbold trophy. A selected group of riflemen is already in daily practice on the range under the coaching of Capt. C. E. Lucas preparatory to the selection of the team. First Sgt. C. Meeks is now at Camp Perry trying out for the Infantry team. He will join the 11th Infantry team when it arrives at Perry for the matches.

Golf Tourney Popular

Ft. McPherson (Special).—Gen. Richmond P. Davis, Corps Area Commander, announces that the annual golf tournament of the Fourth Corps Area to be held at Fort Benning, Georgia, on Sept. 5 to 7, inclusive, promises to be a most successful and interesting tournament for Army golfers of the South.

All officers of the Organized Reserve, National Guard and Regular Army are eligible to compete in this tournament, on receipt of an application for membership in the Army Golf Association, accompanied by $2 annual dues. Applications are being received daily by the Corps Area Golf Representative at Fort McPherson. With over 20,000 officers of the National Guard, Organized Reserve and Regular Army in the 4th Corps Area and some 1,500 of them in the vicinity of Atlanta and Columbus, the tournament should prove a splendid exhibition of the prowess of the golfers of these three components of the United States Army.

Winners in this tournament will be eligible to represent the 4th Corps Area in the Army Championship Golf Tournament, to be held at the Chevy Chase Country Club, Washington, D. C., Sept. 17 to 21.

Predictions are that the enthusiastic golfers of Atlanta, Columbus and other cities of the Southeast will be well represented on the Corps Area team which will be sent to compete against the teams of other Corps Areas at Chevy Chase. Much dependence is being placed upon the enrollment of National Guard and Reserve officers in the Army Golf Association to assure such representation.

Entries for the Fourth Corps Area Tournament will be received up to the moment of play on Sept. 5, but all officers desiring to participate are urged to so notify Maj. A. M. Burdett, Corps Area Golf Representative at Fort McPherson, by Aug. 15. Detailed information concerning the tournament will be furnished by him upon application.

LEWIS POLOISTS SUCCESSFUL

Fort Lewis, Wash. (Special).—When the Fort Lewis Polo Team arrived home recently from participation in the Pacific Northwest Polo Tournament at Vancouver, Wash., it was "laden with cups galore and standing head and shoulders above any of the other teams entered in the tournament." Members of the Fort Lewis team were the following:

Lt. P. A. Garrecht, No. 1; Lt. W. A. Beiderlinden, No. 2; Lt. G. W. Read, No. 3; Capt. J. S. Robinson, No. 4; Maj. G. S. Gay and Lt. E. M. Link, substitutes. Visitors from Fort Lewis, who journeyed to the Vancouver Post to see the games, included Brig. Gen. and Mrs. M. T. Lenthien, Brig. Gen. C. R. Howland, Lt. W. A. Buecher, John Howland, Col. P. R. Ward, Tom Ward, Col. and Mrs. W. W. McCannion, Mrs. G. S. Gay, Mrs. W. A. Beiderlinden, Miss Symon, Capt. and Mrs. P. Moore, Lt. and Mrs. E. M. Link.

VAN VLIET WINS D. C. TITLE

Maj. R. C. Van Vliet, jr., Inf., contestant from the Panama Canal Department, won the District of Columbia singles tennis title at Edgemoor Club here Aug. 14 by defeating Thomas J. Mangan, jr., Washington net star, by 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4, before a fashionable crowd of spectators.

The Navy team of Lt. Comdr. V. K. Godfrey and Lt. R. M. Watt, jr., reached the doubles semi-finals on Aug. 14 to lose 6-8, 9-7, 6-3, barely dropping the match when the score 3-4, with point score 40-15 in their favor. Col. Waite C. Johnson, Inf., and Maj. Van Vliet, Army team, lost the third round of the doubles on Aug. 13, 4-6, 9-7, 6-3.

SERVICE SPORTSSixth F. A. Poloists Active

Ft. Hoyle (Special).—The Sixth Field Artillery Polo Team from Fort Hoyle, Maryland left for the Inter-Circuit Tournament at Cleveland, Ohio, by rail and motor last week. One officer, two enlisted men and 20 horses left by rail on Aug. 9th, and remainder of the players with five enlisted men and polo equipment left by motor on Aug. 11th.

The team consists of Lts. T. F. Keefe, No. 1; Edw. T. Williams, No. 2; H. W. Kiefer, No. 3 and Team Captain; Chas. N. McFarland, No. 4, and W. L. Coughlin, substitute.

The team has not lost a game so far this year and has had games with the Philadelphia Country Club, the Bryn Mawr Country Club, the First City Troop of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Military Academy, the Sixteenth Field Artillery from Fort Myer, Va., and the Maryland Polo Club. During the spring tournaments at Philadelphia the 6th Field Artillery team won the President's Cup of the Philadelphia Country Club, the Morrell Cup and the Southeastern Inter-Circuit elimination tournament which gave it the right to go to Cleveland for the Inter-Circuit games.

The hard games at Philadelphia were too much for some of the older horses on the polo string and for awhile it looked as if the team would not be very well mounted at Cleveland. However, it is believed that this has been overcome due to the generosity of the War Department Polo Association and of the 16th Field Artillery of Fort Myer, and the 119th Field Artillery of the Maryland National Guard who loaned the team some of their top polo horses.

Also Lt. F. L. Hamilton of Front Royal, Virginia, loaned the team his fine private mount and Col. Ed. S. Stayer of Camp Holabird, Maryland, loaned an experimental truck for the transportation of the polo equipment.

Col. H. G. Bishop and the whole garrison at Fort Hoyle are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the first game of the Cleveland Tournament which will be played on August 18th and are sure that the team will justify the confidence of those who so kindly loaned it horses and equipment.

West Coast Army Schedule Made

San Francisco (Special).—The West Coast Army football schedule for 1923 is as follows:

Sept. 16th—Army vs. Olympic Club, San Francisco; Sept. 22nd—Army vs. Stanford, Palo Alto, Cal.; Sept. 30th—Army vs. St. Mary's College, San Francisco; Oct. 7th—Army vs. Columbia Univ., Portland, Ore.; Oct. 20th—Army vs. Santa Clara, Santa Clara, Cal.; Oct. 28th—Army vs. Y. M. I., San Francisco; Nov. 11th—Army vs. Navy. Place undecided.

The sudden death on July 27th, of Cpl. W. J. Evans, 30th Infantry, last year's team captain of the West Coast Army Football Team was a hard blow for the Army team on the eve of the hardest season it has ever attempted.

Cpl. Evans was on duty with his regiment at Camp Del Monte, when he was taken sick on the morning of July 26th, dying in the evening of July 27th.

Cpl. Evans was very popular in football and among his many associates of the 30th Infantry. Evans played right guard on the Army team and in addition to being an outstanding football player he was an exceptional center on the Ninth Corps Area championship basketball team. His loss will leave a big gap in the Army forward wall, and one which will be hard to fill by whoever is selected to take his place. He was survived by his mother and a sister at New Ulm, Minnesota.

2D C. A. GOLF PLANS MADE

New York (Special).—Decision to hold the annual Army golf tournament of the Second Corps Area on the links of the Nassau Country Club at Glen Cove, Long Island, on September 6 and 7 was announced this week by Maj. Gen. H. E. Ely.

It is open to Regular Army, National Guard, and Reserve officers of New York State, New Jersey, and Delaware.

Maj. C. T. Harris, jr., is Golf Representative on Gen. Ely's staff.

1ST DIVISION TEAM LOSES

New York (Special).—The 1st Division Second Team played the Governors Island Team August 12th at Governors Island substituting for the Long Neck Team. Badly out-mounted the Division Team went down to defeat.

Leech Cup Record

ARMY AND NAVY racquetballers are now tied for victories in the annual Leech Cup tennis matches, each having won the title for two successive years. The following are the scores in the matches to date:

	Army	Navy
1925	4	3
1926	2	5
1927	0	7
1928	?	?

Leech Cup Meet Today

WITH net fortunes of Army and Navy players closely watched by members of the Services, the annual Army-Navy tennis match for the Leech Cup will begin this afternoon at the Chevy Chase Club courts, under the rival captains, Col. Waite C. Johnson, Inf., and Lt. Comdr. V. K. Godfrey, U. S. N.

Army net stars have made excellent showings in Washington matches in the past few weeks, and will have tournament experience to back their team play in the effort to revenge last year's defeat. The Army line-up as announced by Col. Johnson, will be as follows: Maj. R. C. Van Vliet, jr., Inf.; Maj. L. S. Hobbs, Inf.; Capt. J. H. Hills, A. G. D.; Lt. D. D. Hedekin, Inf.; Maj. T. D. Finley, Inf.; Capt. C. W. Christenberry, Inf.; Maj. P. W. Newgarden, Inf.; Lt. J. R. Pitman, jr., F. A.; and Maj. P. C. Paschal, Inf.

The Navy team, out for another victory, will have the following line-up: Lt. R. M. Watt, jr., Lt. R. B. Hunt, Ensign C. H. Lyman, Lt. J. S. Young, U. S. M. C.; Ensign W. E. Howard, jr., Ensign J. H. McCue, Ensign Edwin J. S. Young, Ensign G. K. Huff and Ensign C. D. Griffin.

SETS NEW COURSE RECORD

Jefferson Barracks, Mo. (Special).—Remarkable shooting has been done by the C. M. T. C. students slated to represent the Jefferson Barracks Camp at the National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. Under coaching of Capt. Lloyd Zuppman, 6th Inf., assigned by Col. Moor N. Falls, commandant, to drill the team, the selected members have been detached from their Companies six hours each day for rifle practice.

Against the record of the St. Charles range on which both Regulars and National Guard troops have fired which is 241 out of a possible 250. 1st Sgt. Arthur B. Proctor, Co. C., on this range has made a possible sitting and kneeling, 49 prone and 14 standing, and a possible prone and sitting rapid-fire, for a total of 243 out of a possible 250, taking regimental high shot and establishing a new course record. The team is as follows: Sgts. A. B. Proctor, Co. C., team captain; W. G. Vogt, Co. L.; J. A. McGuire, Co. K.; Pvt. C. H. Brown, Co. A. Alternates: Sgt. L. L. Bradford, Co. B.; J. F. Phillips, Co. L.

9TH INFANTRY WINS MEET

Ft. Sam Houston (Special).—The track team of the Ninth Infantry, stationed here, demonstrated its supremacy in the athletic field by scoring 70 points to win the Division Championship held at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, recently. Under the tutelage of Lt. Simon Foss, the 9th Infantry Track Team was raised to a high degree of efficiency. Cpl. Curl, Sgt. Johnson and Pvt. Allard were conspicuous on the field and track and were the high-point men for the meet.

Regiments participating were the 9th Infantry, 23d Infantry, 15th Field Artillery, 12th Field Artillery, Special Troops, 2d Division.

The standing was as follows: First, 9th Infantry, 70 points; second, 23d Infantry, 63 points, and third, Special Troops, 14 points.

Marine Grid Plans Made

SEVENTY-FIVE candidates for the Marine football eleven will be assembled at Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C. about September 3 to begin training for the coming season. The gridders will work out with the University of Maryland squad at College Park during September.

From September 15 to the end of the month, weekly cuts will be made in the squad until it is reduced to the 35 members usually carried on trips. A well-balanced schedule has been arranged through the efforts of Maj. J. C. Fegan and competition for places on the team is expected to be unusually keen.

Five officers are among the candidates: 2nd Lts. C. C. Coffman, F. G. Dailey, W. T. Dodge, D. F. O'Neill and A. Shapley. Some well-known enlisted players who are back on the squad this year are Sgts. C. E. Cobb, J. J. Levey, J. K. Whitfield, Cpls. A. W. Wood and R. F. Gotko.

The coaching staff this year will be headed by "Tom" Keady as usual. He will have as his assistants two of University of Maryland's graduates, both well known, Lt. C. T. Bailey will specialize in the backfield, and Lt. J. C. Burger will concentrate his efforts on the line.

Among the innovations this year comes the introduction of two enlisted men as assistant coaches: James Wigmore, tackle for three years on the team, and Richard Duncan, halfback and safety man for three years and captain last year. These assistants will devote their attention to culling out the newcomers from the squad, and later on to individual coaching.

The manager this year is 1st Lt. E. J. Farrell, who has for many years interested himself in football and who filled a similar billet three years ago. Aside from the coaching and managing staff comes the announcement of the training staff, which includes Sgts. J. E. Young, J. V. Nicholas, P. E. Paisley, Cpls. R. G. Carter and S. S. Solarz.

An invitation to the play the West Coast Army team in San Francisco on Dec. 22 is under consideration and will probably be accepted if the arrangement of such a game is not interpreted as an invasion of the War Department's policy and suitable arrangements can be made.

The schedule to December 8 follows: October 6—U. S. Coast Guard at New London, Conn.; 13, St. Bonaventure's College at Erie, Pa.; 20, Pavia and Elkins College at Fairmont, W. Va.; 27, St. Xavier College at Cincinnati, Ohio.

November 3—President's Cup Game (Navy) at Washington, D. C.; 10, Washington College of Chestertown, Md., at Norfolk, Va.; 17, Loyola University of Chicago at Chicago, Ill.; 24, Lebanon Valley College at Scranton, Pa.; 29, University of Dayton at Dayton, Ohio; and December 8—Loyola University of New Orleans at New Orleans, La.

EQUESTRIAN TEAM DISQUALIFIED

Amsterdam (Special).—The Army Equestrian Team in the Olympic games here was disqualified in the 17-mile cross-country race for losing the course during the event. A minor jump in the crosscountry, which followed the 2½ mile steeplechase, was missed. Capt. W. B. Bradford, Cav., reports that out of 17 nations entered in the jumping events, the U. S. team placed eighth. The Army team's showing was creditable. Four faults were made by Maj. H. D. Chamberlin, Cav.; six by Capt. F. L. Carr, Cav.; and 12 by Capt. A. W. Roffe, Cav.

MAKES HOLE IN ONE

Newport, R. I. (Special).—Lt. F. S. Holmes, U. S. N., of the Naval War College, Newport, established a "Hole in One" club at Ocean Links here recently, when during a foursome he used a mashie as putter from the tee-off to the sixth hole, making the first hole-in-one on the Ocean Links course. His playing partner, Comdr. A. H. Douglas, U. S. N., won the foursome.

Make Long Motor March

Fort Leonard Wood, Md. (Special)—The experimental motorized force, under command of Col. O. S. Eskridge, Inf., is again at Fort Wood today, after a 210-mile march from Fort Wood to Tobyhanna, Pa., begun Aug. 14 and completed yesterday. This march, the third and longest to date, was made to test the convoy for speed, stamina, and control over distance.

The route followed on the march was as follows: Baltimore-Belair-Conowingo Bridge-Oxford-Kennett—Square-Longwood-Westchester-Pottstown—Allentown—Bethlehem-Stroudsburg-Tobyhanna.

The command traveled in two sections with a distance of 500 yards between them so as not to interfere with normal traffic over the roads. The organizations participating were the First Armored Car Troop, Cavalry; One rifle company, Infantry; One machine gun company, Infantry; One battery of Field Artillery; and detachments of Engineers, Ordnance and Signal troops.

The column was made up of 300 men and 96 vehicles, including armored cars, trucks, passenger cars, cross-country cars, light tank or truck and motor vehicles. No slow moving vehicles or trailers were taken. A tactical situation was injected into the march in the form of a reconnaissance mission for the armored car troop.

Wakefield Matches Open

Wakefield, Mass. (Special)—The National Rifle Matches at Wakefield opened here Aug. 11 with teams from the Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Mass. Nat. Guard, and N. J. Nat. Guard entered in the shooting. The meet ends Aug. 20. Winners in opening matches are as follows:

Army Ordnance Match—Team of Sgt. Angus, 98; and Pvt. Diddle, U. S. M. C., 95; total 193. Bo's'n's Mat. Ward, U. S. S. California, and Ens. Shepard, U. S. S. New Mexico, placed fifth, with 192.

Estabrook Match—Lt. M. B. Mumma, U. S. N., with possible score of 50 plus 3 extra bulls-eyes; Sgt. D. R. Heney, U. S. M. C., second, with possible score of 50 plus 2 bulls-eyes; Sgt. Tilman, U. S. M. C., third, with a possible 50 plus 4 on the eleventh shot, outranking Reid, U. S. S. Florida, with a possible score of 50 plus 3 on his eleventh shot.

Cummings Match—Sgt. Hankins, U. S. M. C. with possible score of 50. Ensigns Blinn, U. S. S. Sinclair; Duerfeldt, U. S. S. Cleveland; and McDonald, Naval Academy, and Lt. Cutts, U. S. M. C., each scored 49.

Eddridge Match—Sgt. Mors, U. S. M. C., with a possible score of 50 plus 6 extra bulls-eyes; Sgt. Angus, U. S. M. C., with possible score plus 3 extra bulls-eyes; Boring, U. S. S. Arizona, high Navy shot, 48; Simmons, Q. M., U. S. S. Colorado, tenth, 47.

On Aug. 14, Navy and Marines divided first honors. Navy took first eight places in Woodman Match. Wakefield slow-fire classic, Lt. Cutts, U. S. M. C., won the Snipers' match with perfect score, Ens. Blinn, U. S. S. Sinclair, high Navy man. The Marine Long Range Trophy Match was won by Lawrence and Culver, U. S. M. C. Aggregate score, 198. Ens. Glenn and Ens. Duerfeldt, U. S. S. Cleveland, were high Navy pair.

On Aug. 15, a great demonstration of rapid-fire shooting characterized the third day of the New England rifle and pistol tournament. At two hundred yards, sitting, six sailors and six marines were tied for first place with perfect score. In the shoot-off Peterson, gunners' mate, 1st class, Arizona, Ens. Van Sickle, U. S. S. Raleigh, and Lt. Bresnell, U. S. M. C., again made perfect scores. Finally Lt. Bresnell emerged

OBITUARIES

Announcement of deaths should be addressed to Editorial Office, Army and Navy Journal, Architects Building, Washington, D. C.

COL. JOSEPH L. KNOWLTON, U. S. A., ret., died in Paris, France, Aug. 14, 1928. Since his retirement in 1921, Col. Knowlton had resided at Nice, France, where his wife, Mrs. Eliza D. Knowlton, survives. Funeral obsequies will be held in the American Cemetery, Paris, Aug. 17. Col. Knowlton was born in Joliet, Ill., Aug. 1, 1872, and entered the Military Academy from that State June 17, 1891, receiving his commission of second lieutenant, Artillery Corps, in 1895. He reached the grade of colonel Feb. 22, 1920, and was retired at his own request after 30 years' service June 30, 1921.

The death of Frank McD. Leavitt, doctor of engineering, at Scarsdale, N. Y., on Aug. 6 marked the passing of an eminent authority who was closely associated with the ordnance activities of the Navy for many years. His primary association with the Navy was over the introduction of torpedo manufacture in this country and his subsequent development of the Bliss-Leavitt torpedo and our various types of torpedo tubes.

During the World War he spent three years under the Bureau of Engineering as a "dollar per year" man, developing at that Bureau's request and expense a steam plant for the propulsion of airplanes.

Colonel Robert D. Walsh, U. S. A., Rtd., died at Walter Reed Hospital Aug. 5, after a lingering illness of many months. He was born in California, Oct. 14, 1860, and was a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, Class of 1883.

After graduation he was assigned to the Fourth Cavalry, and rendered distinguished service in the Geronimo and other Indian campaigns. Few officers saw more service than he against hostile Indians, and few knew the Indian character as well. In addition to the Fourth Cavalry Col. Walsh served in the Ninth, the Thirteenth, and the Eighth regiments of cavalry. During the war Col. Walsh was on duty at the huge supply bases at St. Nazaire and Bordeaux. In organizing and administering the tremendous activities at those points he rendered distinguished service of great value to his country. In recognition he was awarded the Army Distinguished Service Medal. At his own request he was retired on June 30, 1919, after more than 40 years of service.

On Oct. 18, 1893, Col. Walsh married Miss Susie Le Grow, of Walla Walla, Wash. He is survived by his widow and his son, Maj. Robert L. Walsh, of the Air Service, U. S. Army.

A correspondent writes: "In June, 1926, he suffered a paralytic stroke, and has been an invalid since that date. The sweetness of his disposition is shown by the cheerful courage with which he bore this affliction. 'Rosie' Walsh was a man loved by all who knew him. He is gone, leaving to us the memory of a comrade whom it was both a privilege and a pleasure to know."

Militia Bureau Progress Told

The Regular Army is required to furnish suitable officers and enlisted men to reside in the various States and act as instructors in training.

State Governments: Responsible for carrying out the training requirements for the National Guard as set up by the War Department under authority of the National Defense Act, and of providing suitable shelter for personnel and suitable storage facilities for Federal property issued for use of the National Guard. The States must also account, in the prescribed manner, for all Federal funds apportioned, and all property provided for use of the National Guard.

Appropriations for National Guard activities amount to approximately $31,000,000 each year, which is allotted to State organizations on the basis of strength and requirements. The States are obligated, in return for financial assistance, to maintain the standards set for training, organization and discipline. While the use of State forces in time of peace, and the selection and appointment of officers and enlisted personnel are under State control, financial supervision is exercised by the Federal Government through the Militia Bureau.

Coordination of Militia Bureau and National Guard activities has resulted in the attainment of high military standards by National Guard units. A workable program of development covering a number of years has been laid out, and National Guard units are being brought to peace time military strength as appropriations permit. Meanwhile the National Guard is rendering service of inestimable value to the States in time of public emergency, and at the same time forms a trained body of citizen soldiers for use in time of national stress.

National Guard aviation units have been formed, and brought to an efficiency that has merited the commendation of officers of the Regular Army. At the present time, summer camp activities are well under way, with manifest enthusiasm displayed at the scenes of activity. Adjutants General and senior officers of the various States are alive to possibilities of improvement in training and administrative policy, and through annual conventions and through the Militia Bureau are enabled to cooperate.

Rifle marksmanship, individual and organized, is encouraged through drill and competition; the National Guard is always well represented at the National Rifle Matches. Through these and many other activities, with the cooperation of the Militia Bureau, each State and the territories of Porto Rico and Hawaii are maintaining dependable, efficient military forces.

The American Army is made up of average Americans, and their dependability is shown by their actions in the World War. Of the forty-two divisions which reached France before the Armistice, eight were so-called Regulars, seventeen National Guard, and seventeen National Army. Twenty-nine divisions took part in active operations—seven Regular Army, eleven National Guard, and eleven National Army. The other divisions not in action furnished replacements to the Regulars as well as their own components.

Out of a total advance against the enemy by the Americans of 782 kilometers, the Guard Divisions made 285 kilometers. Out of 63,079 prisoners captured by the Americans, they took 22,753. Out of a total of 46,739 Americans killed in action, the Guard lost 18,238. Out of a total of 230,664 wounded, they had 97,294. The Guard also carried its share of the Staff and Service of Supply work. In addition to the above the Guard lost thousands from replacement divisions that were credited elsewhere.

The present authorized strength of the National Guard is 188,000, comprising 740 headquarters and 3,102 units located in 1,457 separate cities and towns. The approved program calls for a strength of 190,000 by the end of 1930. To organize the essential units of the 250,000 modified program will require about 210,500 troops. It is highly desirable that this be done and it only awaits the availability of necessary appropriations.

At the present time there are applications in from the various States asking the Militia Bureau to organize approximately 150 new units. Numbers of organizations lack one or more units to complete them. This is particularly desirable for the combat organizations, so as to give a balanced force for immediate use.

The development of the National Guard for the past few years, while increased but few in numbers, has been constant and marked in a higher standard of efficiency. The Federal Government and the States are receiving great value for every dollar expended upon the National Guard.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

ANNAPOLIS, MD.

August 17, 1928.

REAR ADM. WALTER McLEAN, U. S. N. (ret.) and Mrs. McLean have leased the Van Ness house on King George street and will make their home in Annapolis for the future.

Comdr. and Mrs. Alfred Toulon entertained at a supper, followed by bridge, on Aug. 10, in honor of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Thomas Shingluff and Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Thorwald Solberg, who are leaving Annapolis for duty on other stations.

Comdr. and Mrs. Roland Brainard, U. S. N., and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Brainard, and Miss Emily Morton, the daughter of Mrs. Grace Howard Morton, are at Orkney Springs, Va., where they will remain until the end of August.

Among the most recent additions to naval society here are Lt. and Mrs. Francis K. Benson, who, with their children, have come here from the West Coast, where Lt. Benson had been on duty. Lt. Benson is the son of Admiral and Mrs. William S. Benson, and a brother of Mrs. Kraft, wife of Prof. Herman Kraft, of Wardour. He has been assigned to duty on the station.

Lt. Comdr. Thomas Shingluff, who has been on duty at the Naval Academy for the past two years, has left to join the U. S. S. Bridge, where he has been ordered as executive officer. Mrs. Shingluff and their three children will remain in Annapolis until the first of the year, when they will go to California to visit Mrs. Shingluff's mother.

FORT BENNING, GA.

August 16, 1928.

DURING the hot summer months the swimming pool is the center of much of the life of the Post. The pool is one of the largest and finest of all Army pools. It has a hundred yard straightaway and a fifty yard one. One twenty-five foot diving tower, one twelve-foot diving tower and a diving board on the main pier. In the middle there is a life raft. A reservoir pool makes it possible to change the water in twelve hours. From 8:45 to 9:45 each morning the pool is reserved for officers' wives and their friends. Life saving classes are held by competent instructors. About every three weeks tests for American Red Cross life-saving insignias are held.

From nine-fifty to twelve the pool is reserved for enlisted men of the command, and from one to three also. During this period inter-company and battalion meets are held in preparation for the regimental meets. Every September a Garrison swimming meet is held. Winners in the Garrison meet are presented with fine emblems or prizes. From three to four-thirty the pool is reserved for Warrant Officers and their families, and friends. From four-thirty to six-thirty the pool is open to officers and families and friends. Here after a hot day, one will find nearly the entire officer personnel of the Post. Here the bachelors make his "date" for the evening. Here the dinner party or bridge is arranged. The work and heat of the day are forgotten.

babies wrapped in inner tubes cool off. Here the youngsters learn to swim before they can walk well. Babies toddle up to the edge of the pool and jump in. An endless chain of young and old dive off every board. Evenings when it is too hot to have a party indoors the hostess gives a swimming party. Lights along the banks illuminate the pool. Supper is served in the grove just about the pool, where seats are arranged overlooking the water. The moon shines on the swimmers, and couples drift to the shadows at the upper end of the pool. All in all the end of a perfect day.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, KANS.

August 15, 1928.

THE program for the Fort Leavenworth Woman's Club for 1928-29 is practically completed. The year will open with a tea, to which all the ladies of the garrison are invited, and at which General E. L. King will speak. In other years General King has taken this opportunity to explain to the women the special problems of the post, and has made some very helpful suggestions as to the best way of managing during the year.

This opening tea is on Oct. 10th. On Oct. 24th Mrs. Samuel Scott of St. Louis, Mo., will read Eugene O'Neill's plays, "Marco Millions" and "The Strange Interlude." This latter is the Pulitzer prize play for 1928. She will also speak of "Volpone" and "Faust," new theater guild plays. On Oct. 31 Dr. Frederick Vining Fisher will give an illustrated talk on travel in America.

Dr. Frank Bohn, feature writer for the N. Y. Times and contributor to many magazines, will give his lecture "Following the News," on Nov. 14th, and on Nov. 21 Jack London's daughter, Joan London, will speak on "The last of the Frontier Writers."

On Dec. 5th Frederick Warde, Shakespearean actor, will give his "Sixty Years of Make Believe," a revelation of stage life and personalities during the last half century. Miss Louise Hook, manager of the Woman's department of the City Bank of Kansas City, will talk on finances, particularly the household and family budget, on Jan. 9. Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed, of Chicago, translator of the New Testament into modern English, will, on Jan. 23, speak on "Why Translate the New Testament?" On Jan. 30 Dr. Logan Glendinning, author of "The Human Body," will speak on "The Origin of the Devil."

On Feb. 2, Saturday night, at Pope Hall, under the auspices of the Woman's Club, Count Von Luckner will tell of his adventures as the Sea Devil. Cornelia Stratton Parker will speak on "Travel Versus a College Education," on Feb. 13. On Feb. 27 Dr. Boyd Carpenter will lecture on "American Penetration of the Orient."

Mrs. Massey Holmes, president of the Amateur Gardener's Club of Kansas City, will speak on gardening on March 13, and on March 27 Dr. Raymond A. Schwegler, dean of education at the University of Kansas, will lecture on some phase of psychology.

On April 10 Dr. Richard Burton, of New York, will speak on some phase of poetry, and on April 24th, the last meeting and occasion of the Annual Breakfast, Sherrard Wilcox Pollard, of Richmond, Va., will give her mono-drama "Poetry in Porcelain."

An informal tea follows each lecture, at which members may meet the speaker, and during which there will often be exhibits of books or pictures.

The dues of the club are $4 for the year. Every lady at the post is eligible for membership, and almost 200 ladies from the City of Leavenworth are invited to join. Only members are eligible to attend the lectures. During the year almost all subjects are touched upon, as it has been the aim to make the program as diversified as possible.

FORT D. A. RUSSEL, WYO.

August 14, 1928.

FT. RUSSELL will soon have one of the best golf courses in Wyoming. Under the direction of Lts. Edens, Essig, and Major Dagley a 6,000 yd. course has been laid out. In order to hasten the opening of the course, sand greens have been installed. The course will be open for playing the middle of August. Grass greens will be started in the fall and will be ready for playing in the spring. The officers in charge of this project deserve great credit as the entire course has been laid out and completed in approximately three weeks.

Company "G" of the 1st Infantry celebrated the winning of the Best Barrack, in the Military tournament, by giving a dinner at the Union Pacific Restaurant to all members of the company. The trophy, a large silver cup presented by the Francis E. Self Post of the American Legion, was turned over to Capt. Galliett the company commander, by Brig. Gen. F. C. Bolles. General Bolles expressed his appreciation to the company and to the Post for their cooperation in assisting him in his efforts to improve conditions at Ft. D. A. Russell.

Col. and Mrs. John Burleigh, and their daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Marian, have left for Fort Leavenworth, Kans., where Col. Burleigh will be an instructor in the Service Schools.

Col. and Mrs. Frederick L. Munson, their two daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Athleen Leigh, and their son, Delbert, left here for Clemson Agricultural College, South Carolina. Col. Munson has commanded the 20th Infantry for several years, and it was with regret that Fort Russell saw the departure of the Munsons. The officers and ladies of Ft. Russell wish the Munsons the best of luck and success in their new activity.

FORT SNEILING, MINN.

August 11, 1928.

GREEN candles and tiger lilies were used as table appointments at the dinner party given Thursday evening by Col. and Mrs. H. L. Evans in compliment to Col. and Mrs. Walter C. Sweeney and Maj. and Mrs. Eley P. Denison. Besides the honor guests these present were Col. and Mrs. W. B. Graham, Maj. and Mrs. D. B. Crafton and Maj. and Mrs. C. H. Lovewell.

Miss Jane Carpenter, of "Meadow Lawn," Prior Lake, Minn., was the house guest last week of Miss Elsie Simpson, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. O. T. Simpson. In honor of Miss Carpenter, Miss Elsie Simpson entertained at a dinner party Saturday. The guests included Misses Ann Eloise Sweeney, Ruth Norton, Adelaide Harley, of Washington, D. C., and Cadet Col. John Lind, Lloyd Johnson, Charles McKennie, of Fargo, N. D.; George Sandison and Camille Sweeney. Yellow candles and wild flowers were used on the large dinner table, while green and yellow baskets tied with tulle bows completed the decorations.

Miss Ruth Norton, daughter of Col. and Mrs. E. M. Norton, of Minneapolis, gave a dinner and theatre party Monday evening. A bowl of yellow snapdragons with tapers in matching tone decorated the table. Places were set for ten guests. After the theatre dancing was enjoyed at the Norton home.

Mrs. C. H. Lovewell entertained for the Ladies Summer Bridge Club. Garden flowers decorated the quarters. The twelve players were joined at the tea hour by Mesdames W. B. Graham and R. W. Whittier.

Maj. and Mrs. R. W. Whittier were hosts on Thursday evening at a dinner. The large table had decorations in orange and yellow. The guests were Col. Kent Nelson of the Reserves, Maj. and Mrs. E. Maynard, Maj. and Mrs. C. H. Lovewell, Capt. E. G. Gehhart.

WEST POINT, N. Y.

August 16, 1928.

DURING the summer, while cadets of the Military Academy are in camp, the social side of their training at the Military Academy is stressed more than during the winter months. Dances are held three times a week, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, in Cullum Memorial Hall. All the classes are privileged to enjoy these dances with the exception of the plebes.

Color Line, which is given every Sunday evening in summer camp by the cadets, includes original song and dance numbers and skits given entirely by members of the cadet corps.

Major and Mrs. Homer M. Groninger have visiting them Mrs. Groninger's sister, Miss Helen Pomroy, of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Bryant E. Moore, wife of Captain Moore, of West Point, is visiting in Boston.

Major and Mrs. Herbert C. Nebbett, of West Point, have visiting them Mrs. Nebbett's mother, Mrs. J. H. Small, of Washington.

Mrs. John W. Coffey, wife of Captain Coffey, has been the guest of Mrs. Herbert C. Holdridge, of West Point. Captain and Mrs. Coffey have been stationed at West Point for the last four years.

Mrs. Herbert C. Holdridge, wife of Captain Holdridge, has visiting her a niece, Miss Marie Campbell, of New York City. Lt. and Mrs. Benner F. Fellers, of West Point, have had as their guest Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance, of New York City and Alberta.

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD, N. H.

August 14, 1928.

THE annual garden party for the benefit of the Navy Relief Society was held Friday afternoon, Aug. 10, on the spacious grounds of the residence of the Commandant of the Navy Yard, Rear Admiral W. D. MacDougall, U. S. N. It was one of the most brilliant social events of the summer season in this section and with an attendance of over 600.

A special out-of-doors stage had been erected on the lawn and here special dances and other exhibitions were given. Music was furnished during the afternoon by the U. S. Naval Band of the Portsmouth Yard. A Mother Goose pageant, under the direction of Miss Margaret Eliason, was a feature, followed by a series of dances given by a group from the Sidney Lanier summer camp at Elmo. Six foreign dances were given in native costumes loaned by Mrs. Edward Savage Crocker, these being Polish Mazurka, Arabian dance, Croatian Kolo, Bavarian Schubplatter, Swedish polka, Hungarian Czardas. The participants in these dances were the Misses Muriel and Etheldreda Seabury, Mrs. James Cogswell, Miss Molly Benson, William Howell, Lt. Armand M. Morgan, U. S. N.; Lt. E. W. Sylvester, U. S. N.; Lt. Edward W. Cleton, U. S. N.; Robert Breckenbridge, Stephen Kantz, Commander H. E. Saunders, U. S. N., gave a lecture in the Commandant's house describing the work of raising the S-4. Booths were arranged on the lawn and all were well patronized. Tea was served out-of-doors.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON, D. C.

August 17, 1928.

ADMIRAL EDWARD W. EBERLE was honored by the General Board of the Navy Department on the evening of Aug. 15, with a dinner given at the Army and Navy Club.

This festivity marked the passing of the very popular naval officer into retirement from active service in the Navy.

Among those present were: Adm. and Mrs. Eberle, Adm. and Mrs. Charles E. Hughes, Rear Adm. and Mrs. Andrew T. Long, Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, and Mrs. Lejeune; Rear Adm. Richard H. Jackson and his niece, Miss Elizabeth Jackson; Rear Adm. and Mrs. Henry Hughes Hough, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lewis C. Lucas, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. H. C. Train, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gormley and Lt. Comdr. Edward Randolph Eberle, son of Adm. and Mrs. Eberle.

The Acting Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Theodore Douglas Robinson, returned here Thursday after spending a few days with his family at Herkimer, N. Y.

Friends of the Acting Secretary of War, Col. Charles L. Robbins, will be pleased to learn that he has sufficiently recovered from his recent injuries to again undertake his duties. He is at present on a trip to Des Moines, Iowa, and is not expected to return for several days.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Edgar Jadwin are passing the month in California and will return to Washington the first part of September.

Mrs. Creed Fulton Cox, wife of Col. Cox, U. S. A., has returned from Nahant, Mass., where she spent the early summer with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Caswell, jr. Colonel Cox has been transferred from Fort Bragg, N. C., and has been assigned to duty at the Army War College. Mrs. Cox will be a guest at the Mayflower while their house at 1528 Thirty-third St., is being put in readiness for the winter.

Financial Digest

By a Market Expert.

COMMENTING on the rubber situation in its latest Review, E. A. Pierce & Co. states:

During the past fortnight the New York futures market was moderately quiet and steady, with a slowly advancing tendency. This steadiness was due in part to the increasing tightness noticed in the supply situation, particularly in London, where stocks have been reduced to 34,294 tons, but other contributory influences were said to be the apparent unwillingness of primary markets to press offerings, as well as expectations of a high July consumption in the United States. Many place the latter in the neighborhood of 40,000 tons, which compares with the high consumption during June of 37,675 tons. Furthermore, an equally high rate of consumption is expected during the current month.

In the outside market, prices for ambers have had a sharp advance, due principally, however, to the limited supply in the local and primary markets. Buyers in fact have been bidding for these off-grades above the price of standard rubber, for which also there has been a good inquiry. This is all no doubt a reflection of the recent long spell of favorable weather which has increased the demand for tires.

National Guard
MARYLAND.

Baltimore (Special)—Friday, Aug. 10, was Governor's Day for the First Infantry at Camp Albert C. Ritchie. The Governor arrived at about 11:30 a. m., and was received with a salute of 19 guns.

Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, 29th Division, accompanied by members of his staff, arrived from Washington at about noon, for the day.

Luncheon for the guests was served at the Enlisted Men's Club, followed by athletic contests, competitive tests for the communications platoons, a band concert, competitive drills for rifle companies, boxing, Regimental retreat, parade and review.

Col. D. John Markey received the parade, and afterward commanded the troops as they were reviewed by the Governor. At the Governor's left, on the reviewing stand, were Gen. Stephan, Brig. Gen. Milton A. Reckord and Col. W. P. Lane. Col. Markey and his officers afterward entertained at dinner, which was followed by a boxing bout in the evening. The night before, the Governor and Gen. Reckord visited the troops in all-night bivouacs at Sabillasville. The Regiment broke camp, at Cascade, on Saturday, the 11th inst., upon completion of the two-weeks' field training.

The 104th Medical Regiment, Col. Frederick H. Vinup, broke camp Saturday, August 11, after two weeks' field training at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

C.; State Staff Corps & Depts., D. C.; 121st Engineers, D. C.; 29th Signal Company, Va.; 1st Sep. Co. Inf., Md., and Co. "A", 372d Inf., D. C.; arrived at Camp Albert C. Ritchie on Sunday, for the training period August 12-26.

The 104th Observation Squadron is encamped at Martinsburg, W. Va., for the same period, under command of Maj. William D. Tipton.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Announcement of members of the District of Columbia National Guard team in the National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Aug. 26-Sept. 16, has been made. The following will participate:

Cpts. J. C. Jensen, team commander; F. F. Bernsdorf (range officer); 1st Lts. T. A. Riley, E. A. McMahon, H. Everett, 2d Lt. H. C. Espey, 1st Sgt. W. Nicholson, Staff Sgts. J. Thill, team coach; G. B. Campbell, Sgt. W. R. Lane, Spl. P. Garaci, Pvts. J. M. Crandall, E. A. Ross and A. Renau.

N. G. ATTENDANCE RULE WAIVED

In order to obtain successful operation of the "stagger" plan of payments to National Guard units for armory drill, by direction of the Secretary of War the requirements that 60 per cent of maintenance strength of organizations be in attendance at drills, in order to qualify officers and warrant officers of organizations for armory drill pay, have been temporarily waived. The order applies to those units which have been assigned initial pay periods of less than three months, under provisions of Militia Bureau Circular No. 19, of May 23.

LIST SEAGIRT MATCHES.

Trenton, N. J. (Special).—The New Jersey State Rifle Association has included in the inter-State tournament of the State matches to be held at Seagirt, N. J., on Sept. 1-4, the following matches open to service men:

Governor's Champion Marksman Match; Regimental Team Match, 200 and 600 yards; Company Team Match, 200 and 300 yards; Pistol Team Match, and N. J. Pistol Champion Match.

IT'S NOT THE HEAT—IT'S THE—

The Army and Navy Journal expresses regret for certain typographical errors which have appeared in recent issues. We appreciate our readers' interest in calling attention to them.

In the issue of July 28 on Page 949, the item referring to the various officers' of the Navy qualified for aviation commands listed three as the class of 1928 instead of 1898.

Two lines were omitted on Page 950 in the story concerning the Marine Force Reduction in China. It read "5,000 vessels in Chinese and Philippine waters." It should have read "This is in addition to the approximate number of 5,000 officers and men of the United States Navy on duty on the 55 vessels, etc."

Another misprint noted by a reader stated that a General had been highly commended by "Revenue" instead of "Reserve" officers. We believe this line was set by an ardent prohibitionist who got his line-type mixed.

If there are any other obvious errors which occurred during the recent humid wave "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

ASKS ASSISTANCE.

Anyone having knowledge of the whereabouts of Daniel J. Carroll, who was in the Service from 1913-1924, is requested by Mrs. D. J. Carroll, his wife, to communicate immediately with her through P. O. Box 121, Spring St., Hull, Mass. Mrs. Carroll states that Mr. Carroll left his home July 22, 1928, and has not been seen or heard from since that date.

New Guard Hospital Ruling

New provisions for hospitalization of the National Guard for disease as well as for injury, and for pay while hospitalized, authorized in the Act of Congress approved April 26, 1928, have now been put into effect, with the approval of the Secretary of War. Further treatment at home after discharge from hospital, without pay for the period after discharge, and readmission to hospital after discharge, are provided. The new ruling is set forth in N. G. Circular No. 28, A-14.

No case of disease or injury will be placed under treatment at Government expense unless a request for such treatment is made within 30 days following the end of encampment period. Treatment at home may be continued as long as is reasonably necessary. Permanent hospital or institutional treatment is not contemplated. Subsistence regulations for hospitalization periods are unchanged. Reports from Adjutants General are required in all cases which appear serious or will require treatment after the encampment period. These reports are to be submitted to the Militia Bureau through military channels, with full details regarding cases and probable length of incapacity.

Expenses of hospitalization in cases of typhoid fever and small-pox will not be paid unless proper immunization, as prescribed by National Guard regulations, can be shown within a reasonably recent period. Disease or injury will be considered not incurred in line of duty when existing prior to encampment; when contracted while not on duty status; when occurring in pursuance of private affairs; when the result of willful neglect or personal misconduct.

In every case of severe injury a board of three officers, one a Medical officer, will be convened by the commanding officer to investigate and report to the Militia Bureau upon the injury. Full details and testimony will be required. All cases which cannot be properly treated at camp, station, or school will be transferred to Army hospitals when available, or to civil hospitals.

Pay and allowances while sick or injured are unchanged, except that pay and allowances are authorized for both sickness and injury while in hospital. Pay is not authorized for further treatment at home. Cases which have been discharged from hospital and returned home will not be readmitted except upon approval of the Militia Bureau upon presentation of all

C. M. T. C. Trains 35,000

With the opening of the second camp at Plattsburg, New York, the last of the Citizens' Military Training Camps scheduled for the summer of 1928 has started. The total enrollment of all camps as reported to the Adjutant General reaches 35,591. This is the greatest enrollment of any summer except that of 1927, when 39,676 were trained. The popularity of the camps was indicated by the number of applications for entrance. The total number of applications received, 57,868, exceeded that of any other year.

The total number of young men trained in Citizens' Military Training Camps since 1921 is as follows: 1921, 10,299; 1922, 22,119; 1923, 24,483; 1924, 34,082; 1925, 33,914; 1926, 34,194; 1927, 39,676; 1928, 35,591.
